Bob Robinson provides a service which helps people learn how to live in harmony with wildlife

By KENNETH PATCHEN

A cooper's hawk looking for lunch can really upset the best wildlife management plans of Bob Robinson's customers. Grabbing a bird off a backyard feeder may be good for the hawk, but it upsets his customers.

Although, it is kind of a spectacular event.

People can use their property to cater to wildlife. Robinson will help them do it. This not only helps the wildlife, it educates people, provides enjoyment, and helps make up for the loss of wildlife habitat to residential housing development.

Robinson's business, For the Birds, is available to service commercial businesses and private homeowners.

"I've been doing this for over 30 years, ever since I was a kid," Bob Robinson said of his bird feeding interest. After many years of employment with others, he decided to create a business to help people who want to feed and to manage their property in order to encourage the approach of wildlife.

"Things are really happening," he said of his new business. "I think this can become a big thing."

In the fall, Robinson is focused on helping his customers get ready for winter bird feeding programs. In the spring, he will focus on the types of nesting and shelter needs of birds. In the summer, he helps landscaping contractors create bird feeder friendly environments that shelter, feed, protect, and permit nesting.

Usually he helps his customers with birds, but he also helps them manage bats, squirrels, geese, deer, and many other types of wildlife.

"I'm providing the whole service, not only sales of feeders. I handle all the feeders that are on the market. I install them. Different birds prefer different feeders; different birds prefer different feed. What I do is set up a feeding program for my customers to bring all the different birds into the yard," Robinson said.

"It's O.K. to feed year round," he said. "A lot of people stop in the summer time because they think they'll just get natural food. But, if you enjoy watching them, some of the bird's best plumage is in the summertime. Keep feeding them and they'll keep coming around."

He acknowledged that some people find this to be controversial.

People may argue, he said of deer feeding programs, that it creates a problem. Instead, he recognizes the loss of their habitat and sees wildlife management programs as helping to keep some species alive.

Robinson works with companies to manage geese problems at water retention basins. He works with people to help them make their yards or other sites attractive to wildlife. He works to make wildlife management easier for his clients, some of whom are elderly and cannot work outside or carry 50 pound sacks of seed.

"Wild birds will not habituate — meaning, they will not become totally reliant on us if we do feed them all year around," said Robinson.

Robinson delivers seed to customers. He provides the correct type of seed for species. He will fill feeders and he will clean up around the feeding site.

"It is important to keep a clean, sanitary — as much as possible — feeding area. Birds can acquire different diseases by mingling with other animals' or other birds' feces. It's important to keep things cleaned up," he said. It is not good for birds if feeder seed becomes moldy.

As a result of his knowledge and services, Robinson also conducts education programs for children and adults and consults with residential adult care centers and landscape contractors.

"I do talks to schools, to groups like the Christian Women's Club, garden clubs, Boy Scouts, or any group that is interested," Robinson said. "Some of it is common knowledge, some of it isn't."

He likes to relate the unique stories of each species. These can include explanations about where finches came from, why cow birds lay their eggs in other species' nests, and how mourning doves may protect themselves from a cooper's hawk dropping in on them.

"I provide bat houses," he said. "I try to help educate people about bats and Bat Conservation International. I think it's a neat organization."

He works with clients to create bluebird habitats and also to put up wood duck nest boxes.

Robinson said, "Squirrels are fun to watch. But, you don't want them on your bird feeder either. You can bait the feeder, but you must provide a food source for the squirrel, perhaps a more cost effective food

Pedersen to challenge Martini for county seat

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Linda Pedersen announced her candidacy for the position of Lake County board member, Tuesday evening, at a campaign kick-off picnic. She will challenge Judy Martini in the Republican Primary in March.

Pedersen:
Wants to plan for change

Pedersen is the first member of a well-known Antioch family to seek public elected office. She has frequently been elected to lead organizations in the community.

She seeks public office because she believes she can help plan for the future of a changing community.

"Our Antioch community is changing very rapidly," she said prior to the announcement. "If we are going to accept growth and change, I'd like to be part of that planning for change."

"I would like to bring to this position the quality of honest and fair representation for all residents of district one," she said.

"We need to work at maintaining a balance between growth and our historic rural charm. Let us not look back and say 'this is what we should have done,' Pedersen said. "Let us meet it head on, plan wisely, and gradually create a balance between business and residential growth."

Pedersen is known throughout Antioch's service club community. She has founded organizations that work for community improvement and served as the leader of others.

More closings before Grass Lake bridge work finished

By JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

With the removal of the last of the former bridge structure this week, the Lake County Department of Transportation reports work is progressing well on the Grass Lake Road Narrows Bridge renovation project.

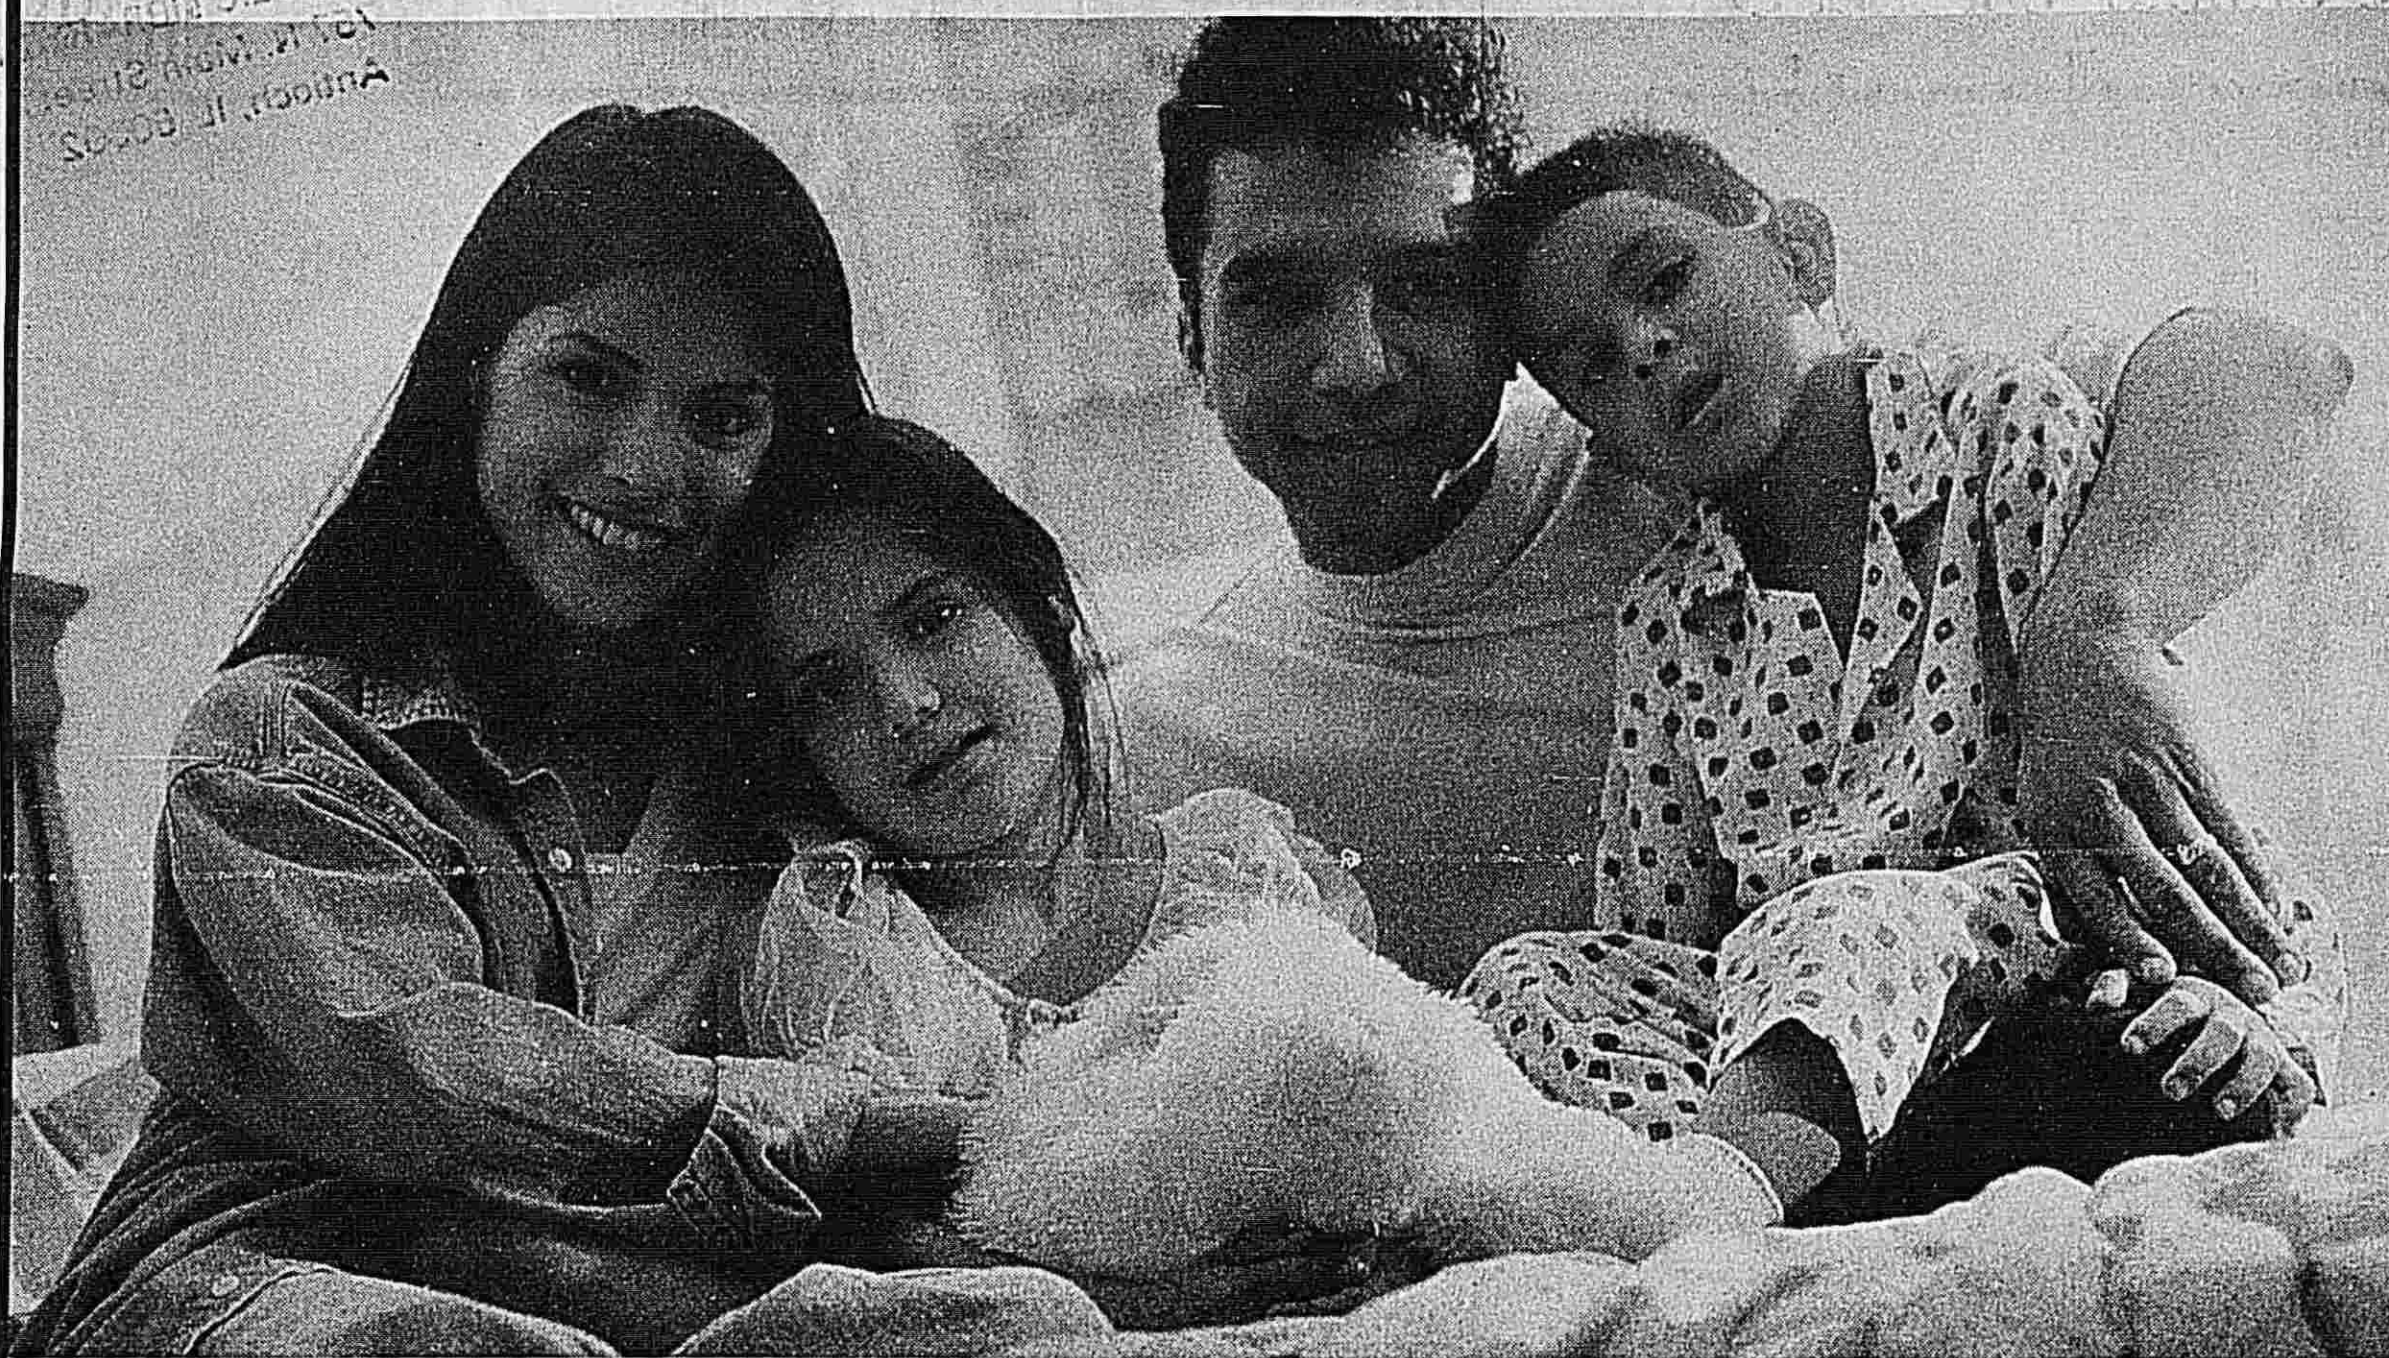

The bridge has been closed during the daytime and reopens in late afternoon and evening to accommodate commuter traffic.

The bridge is scheduled to be completely closed to traffic for five days in early October to allow new beams to be installed. The bridge will be closed again in late November for two days to allow the new deck to be poured. Detour signs and notices are to be posted prior to the closings.

Project engineer Scott Aho said that the bridge's new steel beams would be much stronger than those they replaced to meet the demands of heavier loads.

A family that lost the contents of their home to a fire on Sept. 4 will accept donated household goods, if offered.

Their home and possessions burned when a vehicle left Route 173 and hit a propane fuel tank.

Household items, new or used, may be delivered to 17660

Renee Suforma, a family friend, said, "They are basically in need of everything." This includes bedroom, kitchen, and living room furniture. Kitchen and bath items including utensils, cookware, dishware, and small appliances would be welcome. Towels, sheets, and bed coverings are also needed.

Questions about donations may be directed to Loraine Richards at 847-395-3276.

He is conscientious about the wildlife feed he provides. "There are different kinds of wild bird feed mixes. Some of them aren't very good when you get right down to it," he said. He helps his customers obtain appropriate types and styles of feed.

BRIDGE: More closing before Grass Lake work finished

"The typical way of re-using steel beams is to use stud shear connectors, which are metal bolts welded on the top of the steel beam with the new concrete deck poured around them," he said. "They cause the deck and steel beams to act together for added strength. These would not work on the Grass Lake Road bridge because of the long span lengths, so we'll add new thicker steel beams."

The new beams will be made of 'weathering steel,' which does not require painting and will avoid potential lead contamination of the water

Aho added that the bridge, a project of Abari Construction of Bensenville, is on schedule to be completed by mid-December.

The bridge is 495 feet in length, the longest in the county system, and had previously had repairs to its deck in 1977. The bridge renovation, begun last April, will cost approximately $1,893,000, 80 percent of which is to be funded by the federal government. The new bridge will feature an 8 foot-wide bike path, separated from traffic by a cement wall.

The raffle entry form will be posted on their web page in conjunction with Illinois Governor Jim Edgar's declaration of Chamber of Commerce week in Illinois.

A click on the "press release" link provides details for the drawing for a "limited edition collector's item Antioch Sweatshirt." The sweatshirt features a "vintage downtown scene on both the front and back sides." The site is located at <http://www.lake-on-on.com>.

Edgar said in a proclamation that Chambers of Commerce have contributed to the civic and economic life in Illinois for 159 years, since the Galena Chamber of Commerce was founded in 1838.

Chambers of Commerce encourage the growth of existing industries, and encourage new firms and individuals to locate in Illinois.

The Antioch Chamber will select the winner of the Antioch Sweatshirt from the filled-in entry forms on their web site submitted during Chamber of Commerce week (Sept. 21 through 28). The drawing will be Friday, Sept. 26.

The winner need not be present to win and will be notified by e-mail.

Frankenbergers win Chamber raffle

Fran and Joe Frankenberg are the winners of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry raffle conducted in association with the recent Arts and Crafts Faire.

"We go to it every time they have it," Joe Frankenberg said of the Faire. He won a coupon book with $250 worth of Chamber of Commerce Gift Certificates. People were encouraged to drop their advertising postcard coupon in the box at the Chamber booth. "We've used some of them already," Frankenberg said. They went to the Wunder-Bar Restaurant where he said they have very good food and prices are reasonable.

The Antioch Public Library District must be doing something correctly. Media circulation last fiscal year was more than double the 1995-1996 year. Indeed, it was a 14.7 percent increase. The current newsletter also includes a sheet of statistics that set forth the per patron benefit of the Library. The average person contributed $33.41 to support the library, but received an estimated personal dividend of $163.05 beyond that investment. Actually it is probably more. The library based their calculations of media costs on the discounted prices they received. People would have paid more for the materials that they used. There were 163,349 patrons served in the 1996-1997 fiscal year.

William C. Splitt was sworn in as a probationary police officer with the Antioch Police Department by Village Clerk Candi L. Rowe at Monday evening's trustees meeting. He was recommended by the Antioch Police and Fire Commission. Also added to the public safety work force of Antioch is Stephanie Rupert. She was recommended to the firefighter probationary roster by Leonard Sakalowski, deputy fire chief.

The Library Friends of the Antioch Public Library will host their first bus trip Saturday, Sept. 20. It is a Chicago architectural boat tour with time for shopping and other sight-seeing. "I think it's very successful," said Nancy Brown of the Friends. "People have been very pleased that we're doing it." There was even a waiting list that could not be accommodated on this trip. The Library Friends plan to do another deluxe coach bus trip. The next trip may be to Cedarburg, Wis. on Dec. 6. It is not a final decision. Reservations, comments, and suggestions go to Nancy Brown at 838-2332.

The business meeting of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry on Sept. 25 at JT's Roadhouse at 7:30 a.m. will be about Utility Deregulation. President Ed Cimaglio also said the Oct. 23 meeting will be on the CLC Business Training Center.

Woman's Club holds Membership Tea

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Junior Woman's Club members will hold a membership tea on Tuesday, Sept. 23, at 25319 West Jessica Court in Lake Villa, from 7 to 9 p.m. Interested women may attend to learn more about the organization and to consider joining the group.

"It's an evening where club members can invite friends to see if they'd like to join. It's a social evening," said President Amy Winters.

Despite the social aspects of this particular meeting, the club also intends to present a check from summer fund raising activities to the Antioch Rescue Squad. Chief Tim Osmond will accept the $1,500 check in behalf of the rescue squad.

Also on the evening's schedule is a presentation about entertainment coupon books that offer discounts. The club is selling the $35 book to people who would like to save money on restaurant meals, airline tickets, hotel room costs, and other businesses and services related to entertainment. "The night of our tea, someone will come from the company to explain how to use the entertainment coupon book to receive its maximum value," Winters said.

People interested in buying a book can contact club Vice President

Jodi Eckert at 847-395-4282.

"It isn't just a social organization," said member Karen P. Kubin. "It is dedicated to helping people in the community." The Tuesday evening tea is an atypical meeting.

Antioch Junior Woman's Club was founded over a decade ago. "We are a community volunteer club," said Winters. The club is active throughout the year working to raise money and to support community improvement. Winters said that all the money raised by the Club goes right back into the community. Donations, scholarships, and direct assistance at public events are some of the ways the members invest their energy and time.

"We feel very fortunate to have strong community support," said Winters. That strong support is returned to the community, in part, through scholarships the club is able to sponsor. They gave one $500 scholarship last year to a student. They also were able to send two people to a camp on Wooster Lake that has an annual burn camp. That cost was $650 per individual.

Sometimes their fund raising exceeds their expectations. Last year they had extra funds and were able to offer two additional $250 scholarships for that club year.

LOCAL DIGEST

Village attorney fee increased

The Village trustees voted to increase Village Attorney Kenneth Clark's fees to $105 per hour and $125 per billable hour. Trustee Taso Maravelas voted against the motion to raise the attorney's fees.

Fees for professional services include costs for overhead, labor, obligatory benefits, such as social security contributions, and other costs. Although an attorney may charge a large hourly fee, the actual wages received by attorneys in the firm may be less.

Village sells 40 bikes for $50

The trustees of the Village of Antioch voted unanimously to accept the only bid the village received after two previous attempts brought forth no bidders. The merchandise for bid was 40 abandoned or lost bicycles held by the Antioch Police Department for two years.

Trustees first attempted to identify an alternative way to clear garage space, either through outright sale of individual bicycles or by some other means. With no other solution at hand, they voted unanimously to accept Jim Ruth's Sept. 10 bid of $50.

The other option was to destroy and throw away the bicycles. "I have no place else to put them except a dumpster," the Village Administrator Tim Wells told the trustees.

According to village officials, the bicycles were in bad condition. They had value only for parts. These are bicycles for which there were no serial numbers to match with state registration data banks and for which the Police Department had no space.

"These are bikes that had no owners," said Wells.

SWALCO by-law change considered

Village trustees posted a first reading of an ordinance that will amend the by-laws of the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County if passed by the membership. The ordinance will be considered for approval at the next board meeting.

The by-laws can only be changed by agreement of all village members of the Agency. The Village of Antioch is only one of the members.

The amendment will change the percent of affirmative voting members needed for a SWALCO by-law change from 3/4 (27 people) of the members to 2/3 (24 people).

ANTIOCH

Warrant Arrests

Antioch Police Officers made two warrant arrests in two separate incidents.

On Sept. 6, at 5:35 p.m., officers following a 1987 Dodge Lancer checked the registration of that vehicle. Since the vehicle was supposed to be a 1983 Buick Coupe, according to state records, they stopped it at Routes 173 and 83. Arthur G. Gouzalet, 29, Antioch, did not have a drivers license and proof of insurance. It was determined that the license was revoked and he was wanted on two outstanding warrants, one of which was for a DUI. A court date and bond arrangements were not available regarding the incident.

Antioch police officers were providing protection to a citizen who was moving belongings from a shared dwelling area on Sept. 10 at 4:54 a.m. A check of police records of the person sharing the dwelling area revealed that he was wanted on a warrant. David W. Flores, 35, of Antioch, was arrested on the outstanding warrant for criminal damage to property for the Lake County Sheriffs Department.

Criminal damage to property

Antioch Police Officers were called to 642 Indian Ridge Drive on Sept. 8 at 10:09 a.m. to investigate a criminal damage to property and theft incident. It was believed to have occurred during the weekend or the night before. Charged with criminal damage to property and theft of a Majestic Fireplace with a value of $550 is Robert E. Beebe, 59, of Chicago. Plumbing connections and polyvinyl chloride tubing were removed from a new construction building. The removed plumbing was estimated to be worth $250.

Antioch Police also investigated an incident of criminal damage to property at 887 Main Street. An apartment door frame and a 1993 GMC Pickup were damaged. Arrested in the incident was Jacob P. Dabney, 21, of Minocqua, Wis. Damage was estimated to be $250 for the door frame and $500 for the vehicle.

Possession of alcohol by minor

Antioch Police Officers were called to Antioch Community High School, Sept. 8, at 2:19 p.m., to investigate two individuals in a parked 1989 GMC Carryall in the south parking lot. Officers found Jacob R. Marotta and Douglas J. Bedini, both 18 and from Antioch, in the vehicle. In a brown paper bag between the two people, was a 40-ounce bottle of Miller Genuine Draft Beer that was two-thirds empty and still cold. Both were arrested and charged with possession of alcohol by a minor.

Traffic stop, no valid license

Antioch Police Officers stopped a 1983 Buick traveling southbound on Route 83 at Lake Street on Sept. 13, at 11:19 p.m. The vehicle had no light on the rear registration plate. Charged with not having a valid drivers license and no rear registration plate light is Arturo Costillo, 22, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He posted bond pending an Oct. 22 court date at 10:30 in Grayslake.

Police catch 'cat burglars'

Three charged in animal hospital burglaries, theft of drug Ketamine

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Two "cat burglars" arrested by Lake Zurich police, and a third still on the lam, are believed to have committed multiple burglaries of animal hospitals in the Chicago metropolitan suburbs, authorities said.

The individuals allegedly broke into animal hospitals in order to steal a cat tranquilizer called Ketamine, which when ingested by humans acts similar to PCP, he said.

"It has been a problem in the area for about one year," said Lake Zurich Investigator Mike Parlberg. "We believe that one of the arrested individuals was involved in as many as four burglaries and two attempted burglaries (in Lake Zurich)."

Two of the individuals—Michael G. Platt, 19, of Palatine, and Greg M. Patzer, 19, of Crystal Lake, were picked up by Kildeer Police at 6:45 a.m. Aug. 29 after being observed standing outside the pay telephone at the Amoco on Rand Road, Parlberg said.

Police believe they had broken a window of the All Creatures Animal Hospital, 22048 W. Highway 22, at 2:06 a.m. earlier that morning, and were at the phone calling for a ride after their car was towed away, authorities said.

Each break-in followed a similar pattern. The suspects would break a window at an animal hospital and then leave to see if any patrol officers would arrive, he said.

If they didn't, or once they left, the suspects would return, enter through the broken window, take vials of ketamine and sometimes other valuables, and leave through the front door, Parlberg said.

This is the same mode of operation observed in other communities, including Barrington, Palatine, McHenry, Crystal Lake, Marengo, Itasca and Bollingbrook, Parlberg said.

Both Platt and Patzer were charged with attempted burglary for the Aug. 29 incident, Parlberg said.

The other incidents were attached for aggravation, he said.

ACHS report card reveals 1997 strength

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Academic performance statistics for Antioch Community High School students have been reported to the District 117 School Board. They will soon be published in the School report card.

Dr. Dennis Hockney reported an early summary of statistics at the Sept. 4 school board meeting.

Hockney reported that the graduation rate increased from 91.3 percent in 1996 to 94.4 percent in 1997. The school attendance rate increased from 93.8 percent in 1996 to 94.4 percent in 1997.

American College Test (ACT) scores for the high school are at a five year high and exceed both the national and state averages. Hockney reported to the board that the ACT test scores are now higher over state or national averages than they have ever been.

The ACT average test scores for 1997 (compared to Illinois/United States averages) are: English, 21 (20.7/20.3); Math, 21.7 (21/20.6);

Reading, 22.7 (21.5/21.3); Science, 22.8 (21.3/21.1); and, composite scores, 22.2 (21.2/21).

The number of teachers with a masters degree increased from 60.3 percent in 1996 to 65.5 percent in 1997. The pupil-teacher ratio increased from 20.5 to one in 1996 to 21 to one in 1997. The pupil-administrator ratio decreased from 134.8 to one in 1996 to 133 to one in 1997.

The average teacher salary increased from $47,303 in 1996 to $48,816 in 1997. The average administrative salary went from $68,851 in 1996 to $74,106 in 1997.

The number of chronic truants increased from 27 in 1996 to 50 people in 1997.

There are 1,801 students at Antioch Community High School for the 1998 academic year. Last year, the 1997 academic year, there were 1,753. The 1998 academic year Freshman class is the largest with 490 students. The Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes have 439, 435, 437 students respectively. The school had a total enrollment of 1,783 in 1996, and 1,798 in 1995.

Road work to start on Oakland Ridge

BY ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa approved the first phase of construction for the Oakland Ridge subdivision.

This is the first subdivision in Antioch Township which also is in Lake Villa. Approximately 40 acres of the project is in Antioch Township.

The approval is for 50 units. Most of the road improvements will be done during this phase, according to developer Larry Basil.

The subdivision is located on Grass Lake Road just north of the Painted Lakes subdivision. The main access will be the extended Painted Lakes Road.

Trustees voted 3-1 in favor of the plan. Trustees Bill Effinger, James McDonald, Robert Raukohl and Mayor Frank Loffredo voted in favor of the plan. Trustee Joyce Frayer voted against it. Frayer has opposed the subdivision.

The total project will be spread out over three phases. The total unit count is 115 single-family homes on a 60-acre parcel.

The project is in the Antioch Elementary District and Antioch Community High School District.

Houses are expected to be priced in the $200,000 range.

Missionary joins church

Ron is earning his Ph.D. while on furlough and working part time with the church directing a Visitation and Discipleship ministry.

What I did on my first day of Kindergarten

A milestone was reached this fall as 5-year-olds across the nation were pushed, pulled, wrestled, and manhandled into their Kindergarten classrooms. Seeing as our household Kindergartener ranked right up there with shots, spinach and visits to the dentist, we knew this would be no easy feat. I starting playing up this great experience in July with as much hype as retailers do with Christmas in October. I bought new clothes, hair pretties, socks, shoes and even underwear with the latest Disney characters. We even acquired a new toothbrush and toothpaste, and for breakfast an outrageously, over-priced new sugar-packed cereal containing some ridiculous never-to-look-at-again prize was purchased. I felt prepared.

The long awaited morning arrived. A new outfit was donned, and the bathroom chores and breakfast meal were completed without mishap (i.e. no toothpaste or cereal on the new clothes.) We even managed a few smiling snapshots before buckling up in the car and heading off towards school. We chatted happily about the upcoming day. All was going much better than expected. No sooner though did the front tires of the car hit the school parking lot when this freshly dressed, smiling child sitting next to me, assumed the fetal position and begin emitting low unhappy moans. The battle was about to begin.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Reluctantly this 5-year-old child slithered out of the car, holding my leg in her vise-like grip. The bell rang and, before heading in for their first day of school, all the other children turned to wave "bye" to their teary-eyed moms standing on the sidewalk, all except the one attached to me, gasping between sobs. I accompanied her to the classroom to get her settled in for the morning. After some major persuasion (i.e. bribing her with anything money could buy) she finally sat perched on the edge of her chair next to her young friend. Twenty minutes later, during the thick of "calendar time," I was able to take my leave, exhausted and disheveled. I optimistically pondered how well it went. I had visions of her running down the fall after me.

Day two came. An eager, newly-outfitted little 5-year-old prepared for her second day of school. Once again hopes where running high. Chatter filled the car, smiles were abundant. The front wheels hit the parking lot and low and behold this enthusiastic gem was again assumed the fetal position and began emitting wails. The scene from day one played back in my mind and I was prepared to counter attack her every move.

Unfortunately, a certain 5-year-old must have also been planning an attack of her own. I had to physically pry her out of the car and literally carried her kicking and screaming up the front steps. No sooner had I walked her through the front doors of school when she threw down her backpack and ran screaming out the back door of the building. This wasn't a good sign. Now the whole school, as well as the surrounding counties, were well aware of her reservations. This time it was 30 minutes before I felt relatively sure she wasn't going to bolt for the door the minute the teacher turned her back. I could see a definite pattern emerging here and it looked like either I was going to have to come up with an alternative plan, or spend every morning sitting among 22 Kindergartners singing the "Days of the Week Song." After much thought I hit upon a fool-proof plan, a strategy that wouldn't leave me emotionally drained and feeling like I had just gone through a root canal without any anesthetic.

Day three came. My plan went into full action and worked like a charm on my part—dad took Stephanie to school.

And so goes another—"Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Local athletes continue sports careers

Many local athletes intend to continue playing sports competitively in college, after their high school hey-day has passed.

Most do not get that opportunity, due to the highly-competitive nature of collegiate sports—at any level.

Mary Elizabeth Bird, a graduate of Libertyville High School, will be a member of the 1997 women's cross country team at Carleton College, in Northfield, Minnesota. The Carls compete at the NCAA Division III level are a member of the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (MIAC).

Sophomore Erin Samolls, a graduate of Carmel High School, is a member of the University of Chicago's women's volleyball team and had 249 attacks, 79 kills and nine service aces last year for the Maroons.

Walter Alvarenga, a graduate of Round Lake High School, and Steve Swanson, a graduate of Grayslake High School, were both named Players of the Week for the College of St. Francis football team. Both are members of the prep team for the Saints; Alvarenga is a defensive tackle and Swanson is a defensive end.

Remember, Lakeland's Charity Softball Game against WXLC/WKRS is set for Sunday, Sept. 28 from 6-8 p.m. The event benefits the Rathunde family of Round Lake and their 10-month-old daughter, Holly, who was born premature.

Antioch loses soccer battle to Rams

Grayslake and Antioch battled on even, if a little rough in the mind of Rams coach Joe Martinez, terms for almost all of the 80 minutes of soccer.

A goal by Bryan Phillip with 22 minutes left in the second half stood up for Grayslake in a 1-0 non-conference Rams win Monday.

"What a battle. It was brutal. Antioch is a super team. They are fast. It was 0-0 at halftime. We both had enough chances," said Martinez.

Mike Porto started the play which led the game-winner with a long shot from midfield. The ball bounced off Trevor Smith to Phillip, who put it past Antioch's goalie.

Porto was subbing for injured Morgan Shipley.

"Mike was hurt, too, but he responded," said Martinez.

Blake Larsen, Grayslake's goalie, was far from done with his work. He had to stop a penalty kick and did.

"They had three break-aways and did not score. We guessed right - it hit the right post," said Martinez.

For Antioch, a 3-1-1 start to the season has been based on steady defense. But even that could stand improvement in the eyes of coach Brad Wilson.

"We should have had five shutouts. The defense has been good, but like in the Grayslake match, not good enough. There is room for improvement," said Wilson.

Tim Chilcote, Antioch's goalkeeper, has benefited from the play of Mariano Arce, a foreign exchange student from Argentina who is one of the defenders.

"He is a help. He is a nice player who sees the field well. He passes the ball well and it is nice knowing he is there. He can make everyone else work that much harder," said Wilson.

Antioch won the Maine East tournament with a 3-0 mark.

The Rams made their Fox Valley Conference debut against Prairie Ridge Tuesday. They host Cary-Grove Sept. 16.

Antioch is at Rockford Boylan in a Sept. 12 non-conference match as part of a tournament. They are at Grant Sept. 15.

Rothermal strives for consistency

Consistency is the main priority for Antioch High's top runner as Ryan Rothermal gears up for future North Suburban Conference meets.

He finished 42d with a time of 17:25 at the Mundelein Invite at Lakewood Forest Preserve.

"He was pretty even for his splits, just under six minutes each mile. That was not a bad time for the course. Ryan is doing a better job of keeping his times consistent," said ACHS coach Dave Judson.

Shawn Hansen was 72d in 18:47. Eric Myers was 88th in 19:31.

As a team, Antioch was 14th out of 19 teams with 401 points.

In duals, ACHS is off to a good start with a 21-38 win over Grant.

Antioch loses soccer battle to Rams

Grayslake and Antioch battled on even, if a little rough in the mind of Rams coach Joe Martinez, terms for almost all of the 80 minutes of soccer.

A goal by Bryan Phillip with 22 minutes left in the second half stood up for Grayslake in a 1-0 non-conference Rams win Monday.

"What a battle. It was brutal. Antioch is a super team. They are fast. It was 0-0 at halftime. We both had enough chances," said Martinez.

Mike Porto started the play which led the game-winner with a long shot from midfield. The ball bounced off Trevor Smith to Phillip, who put it past Antioch's goalie.

Porto was subbing for injured Morgan Shipley.

"Mike was hurt, too, but he responded," said Martinez.

Blake Larsen, Grayslake's goalie, was far from done with his work. He had to stop a penalty kick and did.

"They had three break-aways and did not score. We guessed right - it hit the right post," said Martinez.

The win gives the Rams a 1-3 mark.

For Antioch, a 3-1-1 start to the season has been based on steady defense. But even that could stand improvement in the eyes of coach Brad Wilson.

"We should have had five shutouts. The defense has been good, but like in the Grayslake match, not good enough. There is room for improvement," said Wilson.

Tim Chilcote, Antioch's goalkeeper, has benefited from the play of Mariano Arce, a foreign exchange student from Argentina who is one of the defenders.

"He is a help. He is a nice player who sees the field well. He passes the ball well and it is nice knowing he is there. He can make everyone else work that much harder," said Wilson.

Antioch won the Maine East tournament with a 3-0 mark.

The Rams made their Fox Valley Conference debut against Prairie Ridge Tuesday. They host Cary-Grove Sept. 16.

Antioch is at Rockford Boylan in a Sept. 12 non-conference match as part of a tournament. They are at Grant Sept. 15.

ACHS' Groh medals twice

Antioch High's girls golf team has secured a place in the school's record books, but the Sequoits are not about to stop there.

A 201-228 win over Westosha of Salem, Wis. gives the team a 7-3 start. According to coach Steve Wapon, no other girls golf team won more than six matches.

"They are satisfied but in the same sense they come in after a match and say, 'what I could have done better and want to improve.' That is a good sign with some time left before state," said Wapon.

ACHS is preparing for its own invite Sept. 20.

Sara Groh had a good week, gaining medalist honors in two wins. She had a 44 against Westosha.

"She only had 15 putts - that means her short game is coming together. She had six holes of five strokes or less," said Wapon.

Abby Clark, the team's lone senior, had a 53. Veronica Pazanin a 50, Brittany Cable fired a 54, Kristen Hungarland a 55 and Dana Spandet a 64.

Antioch beat 200 in a 198-221 win over McHenry.

Groh led the way with a 46. Hungarland also broke 50, with a 49. Pazanin had her second 50 score and Cable had a 53.

"It is nice to see the younger golfers score well," said Wapon.

Sophomores Groh and Hungarland led Antioch at the Waukegan tournament with 95s. ACHS was not a factor in the team standings.

ACHS is set for its own invitational Sept. 20. The Sequoits host Libertyville Sept. 17 in North Suburban Conference action.

Spartans lose to Tsunami 2-0

Lindenhurst Tsunami did it again at Northbrook. They beat the Northbrook Spartans 2-0. Lindenhurst Tsunami won their season opener against Park Ridge 5-0 the week before. The Spartans, who won their last game 5-1, were a tough team to beat.

Holly Roberts scored the first goal with an assist from Sara Lincoln. The second goal was made by Michelle Laning with an assist from Nicole Staton. Goalies, Jill Norwick and Michelle Laning made some terrific saves. A great offense was demonstrated by Katelyn Blanas, Becky Dean and Colleen Curtis. Awesome defense players who contributed greatly were Tracy Heitman, Althea Betke, Kelly Dillon and Danielle Rosko. Good coaching and teamwork really paid off in this game.

ACHS netters take third

Sequoits ready for conference meets

Trading 5-0 results and gaining experience at Cary-Grove's Invitational added up to a busy week for Antioch High's girls tennis team.

In duals, Antioch downed Waukegan 5-0 but lost to Carmel by the same score.

Antioch had five players gain medals at Cary with a third-place overall finish. ACHS hosts its own quad on Sept. 13. Antioch is at Stevenson Sept. 16 in North Suburban Conference battle.

Third singles player Jenny Rogers won two of three matches.

Rogers, a sophomore lost to Michelle Romanosk of Cary 6-1, 0-6, 2-6; beat Kerry Forsberg of Elgin Larkin 7-5, 6-2 and Kim Kuligowski of Mundelein 7-5, 6-3. She earned a second-place medal for her efforts.

"Jenny has the drive and desire to win. She never gave up; she kept battling back. Jenny is another of Antioch's baseline ralliers," said ACHS coach Bryan Plinske.

In doubles, junior Erin Boodey and Shayne Jacobsen won two of three matches, two of which went three sets. They earned wins over Cary-Grove and Elgin Larkin before losing to Mundelein.

"There was an excitement about Erin and Shayne's matches. They were fun to watch because there was a mixture of shots. They played more of a formless style of tennis. They didn't always attack; they didn't always camp out at the baseline. You never quite know which shot they were going to take -whether it was down the line, cross court or lob. They played exceptional tennis," said Plinske.

In singles, sophomore Jessica Mayer lost two of three matches. Her win came against Mundelein, 6-0, 6-0.

Freshman Mandy Hughes beat Elgin Larkin 6-3, 6-4 for her only win at second singles.

"Jessica tried to out power her opponents. She stood on the baseline and tried to crush the ball. In her first matches she was having difficulty finding the range. In the third match she found the range and started hitting winners," said Plinske.

Mayer won a third place medal for her efforts.

Hughes had her longest day yet as a Sequoit and tied for a second place medal.

"Mandy just rallied all day long. This was the most intense and longest period of time Mandy has played and she did fantastic," said Plinske.

Hughes earned the top singles position and won over Angela Lopez 6-4, 6-3 against Waukegan.

Rogers was at second singles and downed Courtney Costello 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Boddey and Mayer were teamed at first doubles for ACHS. They won 6-3, 6-2.

Jacobsen and Johnson were at second doubles and won 6-4, 6-1.

Juniors Tiffany Kapsalis and Carina Hauenstein won 7-6 (7-4), 6-4 at third doubles.

Johnson and Jacobsen came the closest to winning against Carmel. They dropped a second doubles match 6-2, 6-7 (5-7), 1-6.

Antioch lost a non-conference match to Rockford Jefferson 4-1. The first doubles team's win was the highlight. Erin Boodey and Jessica Mayer won 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

In singles, Hughes lost at number one 6-0, 6-0 as did Rogers.

Erika Johnson and Shayne Jacobsen lost 6-2, 6-4.

Hauenstein and Kapsalis lost at another doubles slot, 6-2, 6-2.

ACHS started the league meets with a hard-fought 3-2 win over Zion-Benton.

Hughes lost a 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 decision at first singles to Stefanie Weishaar.

"Mandy played a great match. She stood on the baseline and moved the ball around. She knew how important a conference match is and refused to give up until the last point was played," said Plinske.

Soph Rogers lost in three sets as well, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0. "She had trouble finding her range in the first set but battled back," said the coach.

Boodey and Mayer won at first doubles, 7-6 (7-1), 6-3.

"The great thing about this match was Antioch never gave up. ACHS was down 5-0 in the first set before getting it in gear and to come back and win the tie-breaker," said Plinske.

Johnson and Jacobsen won at second doubles 6-4, 6-1. "Their aggressive style of play was evident with Erika taking care of the net and Shayne controlling the baseline," said Plinske.

At third doubles, Hauenstein and Kapsalis gained a key win, 6-3, 6-4.

"They played their typical third doubles style. Carina was the point person at the net while Tiffany roamed the baseline," said Plinske.

ACHS girls ready for Warren

Although top runner Liana Rothermal suffered a fall, other Antioch High runners were able to pick up the slack at the Wauconda Invitational.

Senior Cara Henneberry was 16th and the best Sequoits finisher in 11:56 at Lakewood Forest Preserve.

"Cara has been doing really well overall. She is a very persistent kid. She never feels satisfied with what she has done," said ACHS coach Dick Harland.

Jessica Sladik had a 12:15 for 25th place and was the second ACHS runner.

Antioch had three runners, 28-33 with seven seconds between them. Lauren Steinberg was 28th, 12:21; Megan Mitchell 31st, 12:27 and Esther Scheurer 33d, 12:28.

ACHS finished with 133 points. Marian Central won the girls race.

The Sequoits earned a dual meet win with a score of 16 against Grant.

The Sequoits are at Warren's meet Sept. 20 before hosting Stevenson in North Suburban Conference action Sept. 22.

Lindenhurst 'Powers' over New Trier

The Lindenhurst Power improved their regular season record with a 4-0 win over the New Trier Trevians. Diane Bonner scored the first goal putting in a rebound that was set up by a header from Esther Scheurer. Jamie Wismer tallied the second goal one-timing a crossing pass from Teri LaRoche. La Roche then scored a goal of her own with a bit of fancy footwork that spread out the defense and allowed her to place a pass from Nicci Estep into the lower right-hand corner of the net. Shayne Jacobsen closed out the scoring intercepting a Trevian clearing pass and driving a shot under the diving Keeper to gain the unassisted goal. The defensive play of Amanda Behm, Jenny Porter and Jourdan Phillips shut down the Trevian attack for most of the day. The Power is now 2-0 and 4-2-2 on the season.

Better than gold:

Double platinum spark plugs

Advanced technology for today's vehicles

Spark plugs, which remained essentially unchanged during the past several decades, now have gone "high tech." The new, long lasting, high performance spark plugs are in demand, a trend driven by original equipment manufacturing advances in spark plug design. In fact, "premium" platinum plugs are becoming the standard on new cars.

More car owners are seeking replacement products that provide comparable performance characteristics and longer tune-up intervals.

Some drivers may still remember when a car's engine needed a complete tune-up every 10,000-miles but those times have changed. Today, there are several models being advertised as needing a "tune-up" every 100,000-miles.

"Car manufacturers can claim 100,000-mile tune-up intervals for a number of reasons involving spark plugs," states David Sartry, lead trainer for AlliedSignal's Autolite electronic products. "For one thing, some people believe that a tune-up has evolved to only mean a spark-plug change. Also, sophisticated engine designs with precise fuel-injection systems are less likely to foul spark plugs, leaded gasoline isn't available and we're making better spark plugs."

Double Platinum

Sartry says a lot has changed in spark plug design since the days of the 10,000-mile plug change.

"One thing engineers realized some time ago was the necessity of conducting heat away from the spark plug's tips," Sartry states. "Since copper is a great conductor of heat, better spark plugs have used copper cores in their center electrodes for years."

But to get maximum life and performance out of a spark plug, it was also necessary to improve the firing surfaces themselves. Metallurgical research showed that a high nickel-chromium alloy did a good job of resisting the forces trying to damage the plug. In fact, the high nickel-chrome electrodes resisted heat and erosion enough that the better standard-grade spark plugs could maintain their gap setting for at least two years or 30,000 miles.

However, consumers are always looking for something better and that's how double-platinum spark plugs have evolved.

"Double platinum spark plugs are designed to withstand the harsh environment of today's high-tech engines," explains Sartry. "They have small platinum discs on the firing surfaces of both their center and side electrodes which do a superlative job of resisting erosion, ensuring that the gap of the electrode stays virtually as set by the installer for as long as 100,000 miles."

The platinum firing surfaces don't just promote longevity; they also allow for improved performance. Because platinum resists erosion, it allows the use of a narrowed firing electrode. A variation on what's known as "fine wire" spark plug design, the double platinum plug's smaller tip won't block the growth of flame the way thicker electrodes do. And the faster the flame created by the firing of the spark plug can be spread, the better the engine can perform.

"With the platinum on both electrodes, the life of the plug is extended and the firing power enhanced, regardless of which direction the spark travels," Sartry explains. "Many OE manufacturers have turned to double platinum to enhance the durability and firing power of their vehicles."

Double platinum spark plugs feature a chromium-nickel alloy ground electrode and a necked-down center electrode that requires less voltage for quicker starts, fewer misfires and faster accelerations. In addition, the double platinum tip means gap erosion is virtually eliminated.

Proper Maintenance

However, even with these changes, this doesn't mean that your engine should be neglected for its first 100,000 miles. Before that mileage interval is reached, the car will need several oil and oil filter changes, probably at least one PCV valve, and frequent underhood inspections.

Among the items your owner's manual may advise checking are the spark plug wires. Sartry suggests that if they aren't up to par, they may keep adequate electrical power from reaching the plugs and could result in fouling despite the advances of double platinum spark plugs. The hostile environment under the hood can lead to spark plug wire deterioration over time. In most cases, Sartry advises that the original wires will need to be replaced in four years or 50,000 miles.

Establishing and following an extensive maintenance schedule is the key to adding life and value to any vehicle. Reading your owner's manual will give you the foundation for setting up a schedule for checking and changing your oil, filters and spark plugs, as well as inspecting other vital parts of the engine.

Got a Car Question?

The answer is as close as your radio

Where do you go with questions about your car? If you're tired of asking Uncle Harry, the know-it-alls at work, or that creepy little guy next door, tune into the C.A.R. Show.

The Consumer Automotive Repair (C.A.R.) Show airs each Saturday morning from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. (EST) on stations across the country. Brought to listeners by the Car Care Council, the C.A.R. Show is a live broadcast that invites automotive related questions from motorists. Listeners receive explanations in laymen's terms from host, Roger Kwapich, a veteran in automotive service and management. Ideas on troubleshooting and preventive maintenance from Roger and his guests plus automotive news and views make this time well spent for any vehicle owner.

"The show's objective is to educate the public about the benefits of good maintenance and repair," says Kwapich. "One of my main goals is to help motorists save time and money by teaching them to clearly communicate their automotive problems to their service technician."

The Council has an added interest, according to Donna Wagner, Director of Operations. "We hope our audience will better maintain their vehicles, thereby protecting their investment while increasing highway safety, fuel economy, and air quality."

If the C.A.R. Show is not yet available in your listening area, you still can call in your questions at 1-888-CAR-SHOW or e-mail your questions from their Web site (www.the-carshow.com). 'It's a way of people connecting with other people'

The work of caring

United Way Day of Caring unites corporate volunteers with agencies which need their time and energy

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

This is a group of very ordinary people doing a very extraordinary thing; and that, in itself, makes them very extraordinary.

Susan Rochlis was referring to dozens of painters covering the Camp Henry Horner dining hall in stain and paint.

There were also Great Lakes Naval Training Center sailors refurbishing her baseball field.

Other volunteers from Abbott Laboratories, Allegiance Corp., and Kemper Insurance Companies were cutting brush and tree limbs around 1930-era cabins built by the Works Progress Administration.

"What is very special about today is that you get 130 people together and there is such a sense of empowerment," said Rochlis, associate executive director of the Jewish Council for Youth Services. She operates Camp Henry Horner and Camp Red Leaf in Ingleside on Wooster Lake's south shore. Rochlis had people working to renovate a ball field, trim shrubs around 23 cabins, paint cabin interiors, and roll stain onto a dining hall that feeds 200 people.

She was experiencing United Way of Lake County's third annual Day of Caring. It is the largest single-day community service project undertaken in Lake County, according to Douglas E. Weber, president of United Way of Lake County. "It is a great example of how United Way of Lake County strengthens the community by bringing people together."

Volunteers from 35 companies undertook 121 assignments at 72 nonprofit organizations, agencies, or facilities. It is estimated that 500 more people participated this year than did last year. A total of 1,600 people came together on four different projects in Lake County Friday, Sept. 12.

The Day of Caring also coincides with the start of the United Way's 1997 fund-raising campaign.

"Volunteers can see first-hand where their money goes," said Thomas J. Schwartz, the 1997 general campaign leader.

He speaks the truth. The volunteers interviewed for this story looked at the needs of Lake County and pitched in to eliminate them with their own hands on a gorgeous sunny day, away from their places of employment, and in some cases, using their employer's equipment.

The Day of Caring extends the impacts of United Way funding beyond the transfer of money to help good works. The volunteers contribute their own labor to do something to help an agency's program and growth.

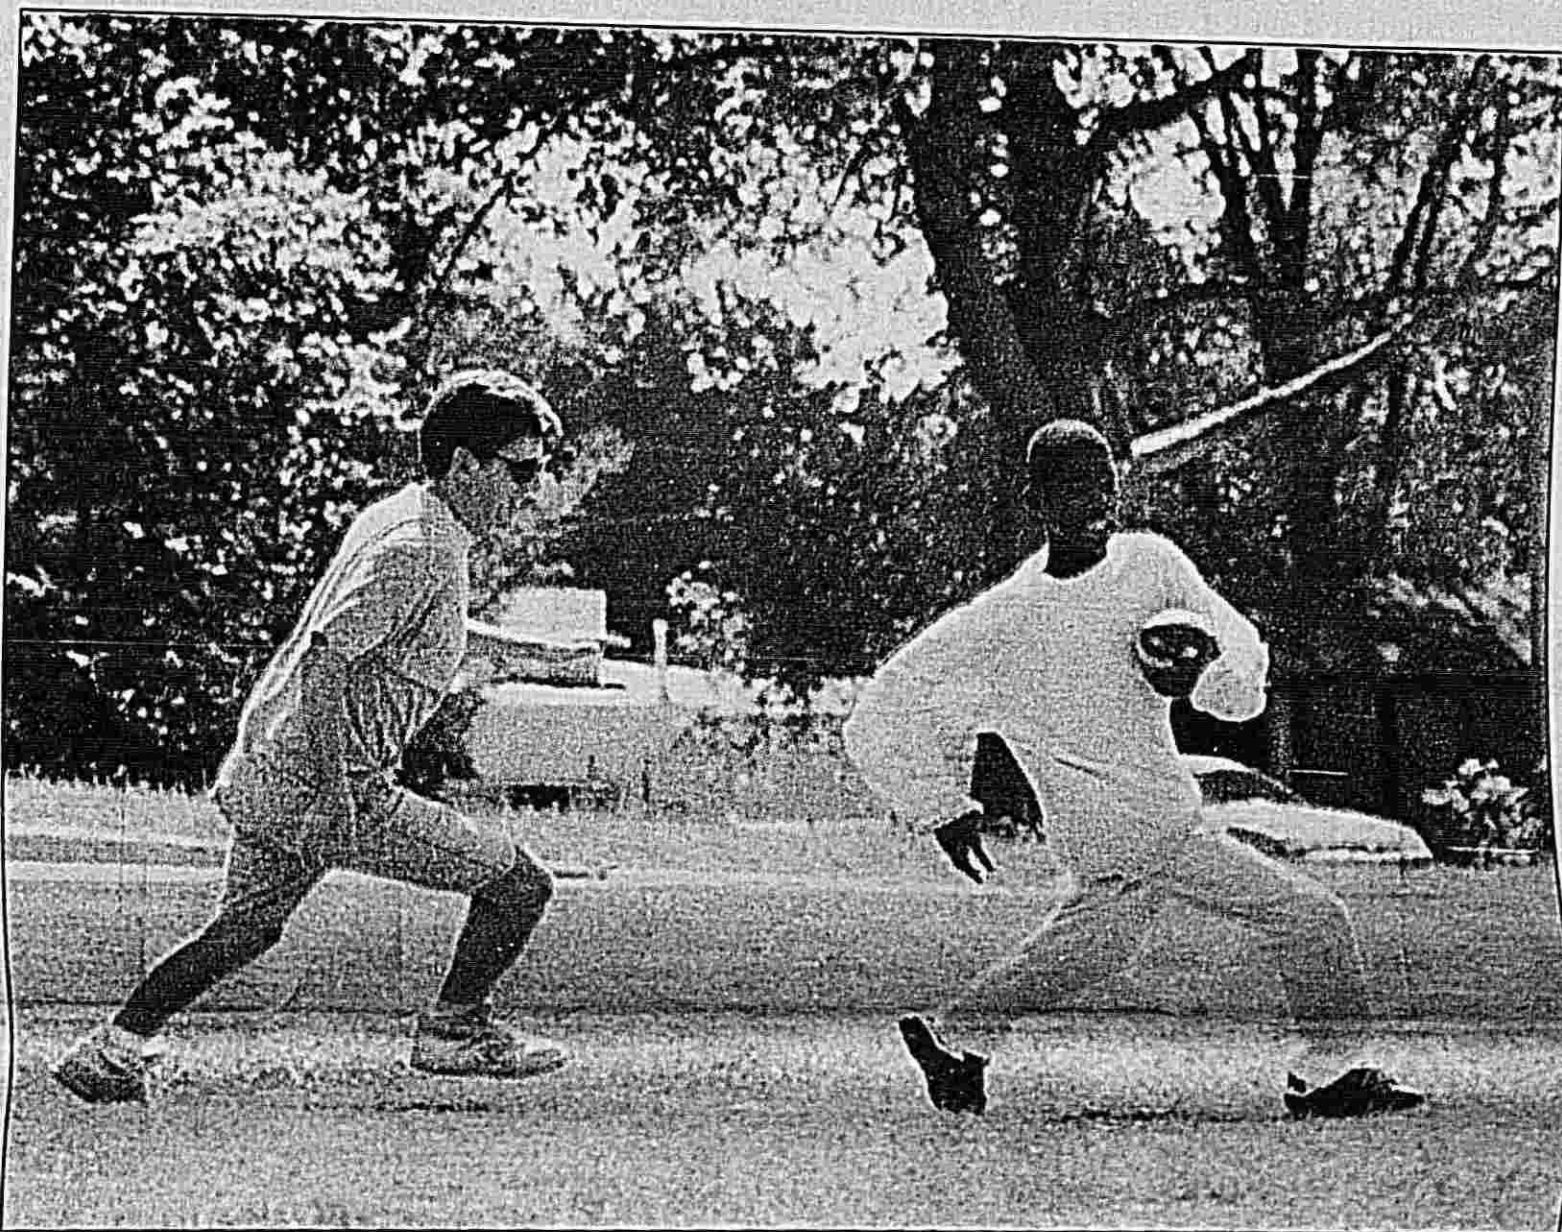

"We're not receiving direct funds from United Way," said Rochlis, "but 130 volunteers and materials is a wonderful thing. United Way of Lake County supports our agency by including us in this kind of day."

Rochlis said, "We're delighted that (the volunteers) are here. This is a positive way for United Way to reach out to many agencies beyond those that they serve."

Ranger Doug Hahn at Camp Oakarro in Wadsworth said, "Everybody needs actual labor help." Workers are needed, especially if they can do heavy lifting. He had Commonwealth Edison employees who were using augers and cranes to lay old and discarded telephone poles onto two-foot support poles to make barriers that control traffic and parking.

Hahn said the barriers help security as well as aesthetics. The bumpers take the place of fences and gates at the camp. The ComEd employees also strung power lines to a camp fire-circle so that other volunteer electricians could add light to a wooded setting used for night-time scout gatherings.

Some of the ComEd employees using their heavy equipment to move telephone poles were: Rich Jarr, Tom Young, Greg Schaffer, and Mike Kenny. Leslie Goetz with the Imagination plus

Imagine a place where cars are made from tin cans. Where a tiny finger can change the course of a river, and a ship can sail around the world in a day. Imagine a place big enough to host a child's imagination. It's the new Chicago Children's Museum, with 57,000 square feet dedicated to the curiosity and creativity of children ages one to 12. Children can become artists, scientists, and leaders at the Chicago Children's Museum. Within the museum's doors, children are everything.

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

Be aggressive this week, Aries. Everything from your career to your personal life is getting a little overwhelming. Stand up for yourself, and get what you truly want — not what others tell you to want. You can take control of your life. Capricorn plays a key role later in the week.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

You paint the town red this week — even if you don't really want to. Career and personal obligations have you out and about for several days in a row. Don't get too frustrated; things calm down by Friday. Take the weekend to relax. Spend some time with those you love.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

Patience really isn't your strong suit, Gemini, and that gets you into trouble early in the week. Try not to jump the gun when it comes to helping a friend; just relax, and wait until the time is right. In the long run, you do the right thing. Your efforts are appreciated. Sagittarius plays an important role midweek.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

You're not in the best of moods this week. Everything and everyone seems to get on your nerves. Don't take your aggravation out on others; take some time for yourself. Stay at home and pamper yourself instead of going out. You'll feel better before the week is through.

Leo — July 23/August 23

While you've got a lot to get done this week, Leo, you aren't stressed at all. You have things organized and are in control. Enjoy the feeling! A loved one calls on you for help. While it's frustrating, you have to be there for him or her. A close friend introduces you to someone who interests you. Make your move.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

Be selective when it comes to lending money. Several friends turn to you for financial help. Don't automatically say yes, even though it makes you feel bad. You can't let others take advantage of you. A person whom you've been dating wants to intensify the relationship. Say yes!

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

A new person in your life challenges your good nature. Don't let him or her agitate you. Be yourself, and let your pleasantness shine through. Loved ones question a decision you make. Don't feel like you have to defend yourself, but don't leave family members in the dark either.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

You're on the road to success this week, Scorpio. You make all the right moves with all the right people. Everyone takes notice of your achievements. Friends want to take you out for a night on the town. Don't refuse; you're sure to meet some interesting people on the venture.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

You really put your foot in your mouth at work this week. However, there's no need to worry. A simple explanation remedies the situation. That special someone asks you an important question. Don't make a rash decision; think about what you want out of this relationship.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

While you're used to being the admirer, this week, someone reveals how much he or she truly admires you. You should be flattered, but don't get conceited. A family member takes you up on your offer of a shoulder to cry on. Be supportive. Aquarius plays a key role.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Be realistic when it comes to a business venture. Remember, all that glitters is not gold. Don't get taken in by the hype; learn the facts before making any decision. An interesting person asks you on a date. Say yes, but don't get your hopes up. Just enjoy the evening. Cancer plays a role midweek.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

Don't make a rash decision at work early in the week, Pisces. The higher-ups are watching you. Give your full attention to your work, and don't get distracted. A loved one asks for your help with a difficult situation. Do your best to support him or her, but don't get in over your head.

At raise time, we all want to be like Mike

I'm sure you're all aware by now that the Bulls re-signed my basketball idol, Michael Jordan, for another season and another run for the title. At $33,000,000 for one year, a 10percent raise over last year, Michael's salary is, like him, in a class by itself.

Considering that the average working stiff in this country gets a yearly raise of between 3-5percent, I think that Michael must be doing something right. Which leads me to believe that "His Aimess" is missing the boat on another great money-making opportunity: a celebrity advice book. The bookshelves are filled these days with books "written" by celebrities that tell us how to cook, how to lose weight, how to have a winning attitude, and so on and so on.

It seems only fitting, then, that Michael should write a book on a subject he excels at (besides basketball) that is of interest to us all — "How to Get a Raise."

Of course, like most celebrities, Michael will probably need a little writing assistance from a ghost-writer, and I would be happy to offer my services to get him started. So, Michael, here's a little sample of the kind of down-to-earth advice you could offer the public in your book. Have your agent call my agent if you're interested:

Rich As I Wanna Be

Advice on Getting a Raise
by Michael Jordan

Chapter 1: Never call in sick.

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Ahearne

For perhaps the best example in employment history, see Game 5 of the 1997 NBA Finals — Chicago Bulls vs. Utah Jazz.

Chapter 2: Know your current market value. For instance, when I asked the Bulls management last year for $30 million, it's not because I think I'm worth $30 million (well, okay - I am). It's because I looked at the salaries that other players were getting, then I just added another $10 million because I can fly and they can't.

Now, the rest of you may have to be more realistic — if you are a janitor and you make $12 an hour, and most janitors in the country make $12 an hour, I doubt that your boss is going to pay you $30 million, no matter how clean your toilets are.

That's just the way the basketball bounces. Or, in your case, the toilet brush.

Chapter 3: Demonstrate pride in your company/organization. I am very proud of myself and my team. I let management know it, and I let our competitors know it, too. Which is why I sometimes call up guys like Patrick Ewing of the Knicks and talk trash:

"Patrick. My man! Can you spell 'loser'?" L-O-S-E-R! Now if you want to learn how to spell "winner", why don't you come play for the Bulls. Otherwise, your team is going to have to change their name to "The New York Knickknacks" because that's all you are ever going to have on your shelf! The trophy's mine, bro."

Chapter 4: Be a team player. Even if your co-workers have red and purple hair, or wear strange makeup and tacky dresses, stick up for them. Find something good to say about them, such as "You know, I never thought of having red and purple hair or dressing up like a really ugly woman. But on you, it just seems - fitting."

Chapter 5: If all else fails, join the White Sox.

Sometimes, the only way to get management's attention is to quit and go play baseball for a while. After they lose an NBA championship or two, they seem to gain a new respect for your talent.

(In basketball, that is.)

Questions or comments for Humorist Donna Ahearne can be sent to Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

MOVIE PICK

It's how Douglas plays the 'Game'

The first time Michael Douglas played an investment mogul he found himself waving a golden 'Oscar' for "Wall Street."

In "The Game," Douglas' character, Nicholas Van Orton, is older, foreboding, and bored with his success as an investment banker. His life is as dark and gloomy as a "Batman" episode.

Sean Penn, who already took the summer movie world by storm with the marvelous job he does in "She's So Lovely," giving superstar John Travolta a run for his acting money, plays Douglas' ne'er-do-well younger brother.

Penn introduces the lackluster Douglas, who has just reached the age at which his father did away with himself, to a company called Consumer Recreation Services. The eerie business designs custom games based on real life, intended to turn on the hidden emotions and fears of each client, presumably hungry for forbidden excitement.

Douglas soon finds himself enveloped by terror-laden situations, such as a tumultuous cab ride to a destination described aptly in "Dante's Inferno." Add a sinister romance, plus one challenging terror after another. One of the most frightening things is Douglas' and the audience's inability to know the fake from the real.

The film recognizes and exploits all available manipulations during this seemingly domino effect thriller. This is a danger laden roller coaster ride, that asks the main question, can and should Nicholas Van Orton be saved.

The darkness of "The Game," that reminds one of the same black trepidation that surrounded "Seven," is no coincidence since both films are the directorial children of David Fincher, who was also responsible for the fright feature "Alien 3."

This movie defies you not to pay close attention as you hang on to the edge of your seat. Like a Hitchcock film, you'll wonder if you are really enjoying the movie or just afraid not to.

The casting of Douglas is no surprise since he is a master at facing movie danger with sweating brow, gritting teeth, and a look that shouts "Come get me, I dare you."

This is the best suspense film of late, so we give this "R" rated jet-propelled bit of psychological turbulence 3.5 out of five stars, showing the lack of Hitchcock's perfection. Although preposterous stories are the norm for tales of suspense, this script often gets too outlandish, even for a Hitchcock wannabe. — By GLORIA DAVIS

Michael Douglas stars in "The Game," an often outlandish film directed by "Seven" director David Fincher.

Collecting the seeds from your garden

The other day, while slicing into a very ripe, meaty tomato, I thought it would be great if all tomatoes were this tasty. It was an heirloom variety, Prudents Purple, that I grew for the first time this year.

When buying tomatoes that are already started in containers from your favorite nursery you pretty much have to rely on what they have available. Most nurseries grow the old reliable hybrid types, i.e. Better Boy, Early Girl, Bigger Boy, etc. Don't get me wrong, those varieties are very tasty, and they have been bred for resistance against diseases, but there is something about heirloom varieties (like the kind Grandma grew).

I personally think they are meatier, sweeter and more flavorful than those readily available. My grandmother and uncle used to save seeds from their favorite tomatoes, beans, herbs and flowers. I have saved seeds from flowers and herbs in the past, but I have never tried vegetables. So this year I am going to do an experiment of my own. I am saving seeds from my personal favorites in my garden. It seems like a great idea, to propagate that circle of life, continuing the never-ending process. What we take out of the ground we put back in.

I have done some research and collecting seeds seems pretty simple. You must keep in mind, though, that seeds collected from commercially hybridized plants may not have the results you expect. The seeds of these plants usually will not be like the parent plant. You are better off with standard, heirloom varieties. Beginners can start off with seeds of tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, beans and squash. Basil, marigolds and cosmos are very easy to propagate.

Allow the fruit or flower to stay on the plant well after you would usually harvest it. Once it has set seed, the plant will visibly decline.

That is the right time to harvest the seeds. With cosmos, the yellow middle contains the seeds, marigolds are also simple; the seeds are right on top of the stem, where the flower used to grow. Peas and beans only have to be removed from their pods. Plants whose seed heads are visible, can be gently shook over paper toweling until all the seeds fall out.

Other crops require more delicate removal of their seeds, such as tomatoes, peppers, watermelons and summer squashes. These are obtained by a method called "wet processing." Pick a slightly over-ripe specimen and squeeze the seeds and juice into a jar, then fill the jar with cool to lukewarm water. Let sit for 10 days, during which time a smelly ooze may cover the water's surface. At the end of the 10 days the fertile seeds will have sunk to the bottom while the sterile seeds float on top.

The main thing with over-winterizing seeds is they must be kept dry, and at stable, cool temperatures. My uncle used to store his in jars which he kept in the refrigerator. Zip-lock plastic bags are also great for this purpose. Just be sure they are absolutely dry before storing them.

I remember an old Italian neighbor of mine, from the "old country," who would agonize over which were the very best tomatoes to keep for planting next year. Every year he renewed his garden with the seeds from the year before. I find his method very reassuring and life affirming. Now...which seeds will I save? Peace.

CARING: United Way Day of Caring unites volunteers with needy agencies

Crusade of Mercy was also helping.

At Camp Dan Beard, another Boy Scouts of America Northeast Illinois Council camp, USG Corporation-Research Center volunteers were at work. "They're doing the dry wall on one of our big cabins," Hahn said. "They're hanging a lot of stuff. They're donating ceiling tiles so we can replace old ones. That saves us a lot of money."

The volunteers who were doing the work for the agencies were themselves affected by the Day of Caring experience. One set of volunteers, enthusiastic about the one-day opportunity to work with their co-workers to help the Central Baptist Children's Home in Lake Villa, were from the Allegiance Customer Service Department. They were moving two truck-loads of dirt to fill an empty reflecting pool. They brought their own gloves to aid blister management. The loam filled, cement-lined pond will be used for high school science experiments in the spring.

Jim Fitzgerald, customer service manager at Allegiance, who lives in Grayslake, said, "Out of our group

(at the office), everyone volunteered, but we could only take half. As far as I'm concerned, the ones that stayed behind with the phones are also helping us out."

One of the volunteers shoveling down the pile of dirt was Jackie Naughton of Burlington, Wis. "I'm glad to do it. I can't take (a large contribution) all out of my check... I've got three kids in college, so I donate my time." She donates money and labor.

Also filling the reflecting pool at the Central Baptist Children's Home were: Maureen Van Heirsele, Waukegan; Sheri Tyska, Waukegan; Chris Raetzman, Kenosha, Wis.; Lisa Luedtke, Kansasville, Wis.; Chris Fritz, Round Lake Beach; and Karen Salmi, Winthrop Harbor. They too expressed satisfaction with the experience.

Another enthusiastic crew of volunteers, from Baxter Healthcare Corporation, was having way too much evident fun, even late in the afternoon. They were painting walls at the OMNI Whitehall Resource Center in Mundelein. The office space is in a large housing complex off Butterfield Road and provides many social services and liaison opportunities for local residents. The Lake County Health Department, the Cook Memorial Library District, and the Mundelein Police Department are all able to help with outreach services from the office.

Secretary Angie Mira said the Mundelein Resource Center offers help to students with homework, job counseling services, and with making connections to other service agencies. Of the Baxter Healthcare painters, she said, "They really helped us to look better, and that will help the kids feel better." She thinks the center's refurbished space will provide a lift to those who come for assistance.

Baxter Healthcare painters include: Susan Oberlander, Gurnee; Eun Bergman, Wheeling; Patrick Feeny, Park Ridge; Donna Campagna, Libertyville; Erika Matthel, Gurnee; and Linda Lo, Green Oaks.

Rochlis was excited about the opportunity for accomplishments at Camp Henry Horner, as was Hahn at Camp Oakarro. Mira, too, could see a benefit to her programs by the donated labor. The volunteers themselves could recognize an impact on how they felt as well as recognize the difference they were making for others. The Day of Caring provided benefits to all people involved.

"It's a way of people connecting with other people," Rochlis said. "I think it ties in with a spirituality issue: people looking to make connections."

Making connections all along the volunteer chain was one of the outcomes of the third United Way of Lake County Day of Caring.

Youth Nature programs explore changing seasons

The Lake County Forest Preserves invites children of all ages to experience the changing seasons with an outdoor, hands-on Youth Nature Programs.

Children in fourth through sixth grade can investigate the inner workings of the wild and uncover nature's hidden secrets at Nature Explorers. Children will become a wildlife biologist, take outdoor hikes, discover the secrets that make nature work and play games. Two sessions are available: Saturday, Sept. 20 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Forest Preserve General Offices in Libertyville; and Saturday, Nov. 8 from 10 a.m. to noon at Ryerson Conservation Area near Deerfield. The cost of the program is $6 ($8 for non-Lake County residents) per child.

Parents can join children as they discover seasonal changes and explore nature at Knee-High Naturalists. The nature program features different nature topics, games, explorations and crafts. Two sessions are available: Saturday, Sept. 20 from 10 a.m. to noon, at the Ryerson Conservation Area near Deerfield. Cost is $10 ($14 for non-Lake County residents) per adult-child pair, and $5 ($7 for non-Lake County residents) per each additional child. A maximum of two children per adult is allowed.

Be a Nature Detective and explore a marsh, prairie and woodland as you look for signs of animals. One session on Sunday, Sept. 21 from 1 to 2:30 p.m. is available, at Cuba Marsh Forest Preserve near Barrington. This program is open to children 10 and older. Cost is $3 ($4 for non-Lake County residents).

Reservations and pre-payment are required for all Youth Nature Programs. For directions, more information, and to make reservations, call Ryerson Woods at 948-7750.

Parking at O'Hare Airport

by JIM WARNKEN
President, North Star Travel

I just finished a phone conversation with a gentleman inquiring about parking options at O'Hare and thought there may be others who will soon have to face the decision of what to do with your car when flying from the world's busiest airport. Here's what you need to know.

Unless you want to pay up to $22 a day for parking, don't follow the signs to the main parking lot (Lot A). Instead, park at one of O'Hare's remote lots (E&F) for as little as $6.00 a day.

From the O'Hare exit from I-294, you can get to the remote lots two ways. Lot F, where you'll be paying just $6 a day, is best reached by taking the Mannheim Rd. North exit just past the toll booth before you enter the airport, then continue about 1/2 mile. The lot will be on your right side. For reasons I will explain in a moment, you may want to pay a little more and park in Lot E.

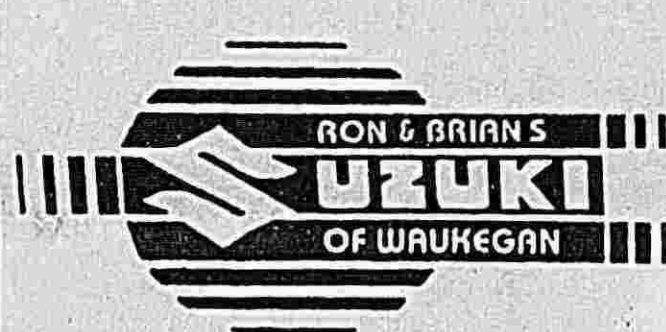

To get to Lot E, continue past both Mannheim Rd. exits to the next right to the sign that says "Rental Car Return." (It also says remote parking somewhere on that sign, but you'll be past the exit before you find it!). You'll curve to the right and come to a stoplight where you'll turn left again following the signs to rental car return and remote parking. About 1/2 mile on your left, past the rental cars, is the entrance to Lot E. (If Lot E is full, you can continue on the same road, turn right and cross Mannheim Rd. into Lot F).

Lot E will cost you $9 a day to park, but the ease of getting to terminal is well worth it. O'Hare's Airport Transit System, (ATS), connects Lot E with all three terminals. The ATS is a completely automatic elevated train system, which, during busy times, leaves Lot E every five minutes. The trip to your terminal takes anywhere from 3 to 7 minutes, depending on which one your plane leaves from. Terminal 5 (International) is first, followed by Terminal 3 (American), Terminal 2 and then Terminal 1 (United). (No, I don't know why there is no terminal 4).

If you park in Lot F, you will have to take the airport bus to Lot E and then the ATS to your terminal, so if you want to save that $3, allow yourself plenty of time.

Not long ago, a little girl was born with a few strikes against her. Ten month old Holly Rathunde arrived three months premature and was diagnosed with an underdeveloped immune system; she is currently uninsurable. Her family's ongoing struggle with medical bills in excess of $400,000 has inspired us to get all our players on the field to do something to help.

On Sunday, Sept. 28, Lakeland Publishers will meet WKRS/WXLC at the ballpark to play a charity softball game to benefit Holly. It's your opportunity to show the Rathundes that we live in a community of good sports. Your attendance at the game is your chance to step up to the plate. Your ticket price of $4.00 will be donated to the Rathunde family, along with any other donations received. Pitch in, won't you?

Hillcrest to host VITAS volunteer training

Hillcrest Nursing Center, 1740 N. Circuit Dr., Round Lake Beach, will host a hospice volunteer training program. The training program will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 20 and continue and conclude on Saturday, Sept. 27, also from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The program will be conducted by Jack Dohr, MA, manager of Volunteer Services for VITAS Innovative Hospice Care.

Hospice volunteers are very unique individuals who provide a special kind of caring and friendship to terminally ill patients and their families/caregivers. Through visiting the patients in their own homes or perhaps residing in such facilities as Hillcrest Nursing Center, the volunteer brings the companionship of simply "being there" and sharing this special time in the patient's life. Indeed, a hospice volunteer is very special.

The program will include an introduction to and history of hospice, as well as other topics such as physiological, psychosocial and spiritual aspects of dying and death. Through video and lecture presentations, potential volunteers are presented with information and an opportunity to share from their own experiences of dealing with illness and limitations. In order to become a volunteer, certain testing requirements must be met. For information, or to register for this volunteer training contact Jack Dohr, MA, at 568-0066.

Good Shepherd Hospital offers new 'Twins or More: What to Expect' class

Parents expecting twins or other multiple births can build confidence and learn parenting skills necessary for caring for multiple babies in a new prenatal class offered by Good Shepherd Hospital, Barrington.

"Twins or More: What to Expect," is designed to explore the unique aspects of multiple births including what to expect during pregnancy, childbirth and beyond. The class gives parents practical tips for managing the daily care of multiple babies.

The first class will be held from 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday, Sept. 27. The cost is $34 per couple. Classes are scheduled every other month. Expectant parents should plan to take the class early in the second trimester, however, anytime during pregnancy is appropriate. To register, call Good Shepherd's HealthAdvisor line at 1(800)323-8622.

"The birth of a baby is a stressful experience, and for parents expecting two or more babies that stress could be compounded," said Lauren Tihinen, RN, class instructor and mother of twin daughters. "Parents need to learn how to manage the daily routine of feeding, bathing, dressing, diaper changing and more. Time management and problem solving skills become essential. This class teaches successful family management."

Class topics include pregnancy, labor and delivery, the differences between a singleton and multiple pregnancy, recognizing the signs and symptoms of premature labor and pregnancy complications.

Also included is a discussion on the importance of healthy lifestyles including proper nutrition, rest, stress management, family budgeting and how to maintain healthy family relationships and a healthy home.

As a mother of three, including twin daughters, Tihinen knows firsthand how essential practical day-to-day family management skills are for families.

"This information-packed class teaches parents how to juggle multiple feedings, baths, etc. and what baby equipment is essential to buy," said Tihinen.

"Parents also learn about support groups available to help with the physical and emotional stress of parenting multiples."

Participants also receive a listing of resources for special coupons, freebies and discounts on baby products available to parents of multiples as well as reference list of popular books and other reading materials on the market about multiple births.

Twins or More compliments Good Shepherd's other prenatal, Lamaze and parenting classes, which provide comprehensive childbirth education for expectant mothers, fathers and support persons.

How can we get Little Tommy to behave? Here's one way!

Little Tommy is 4 years old and has done something wrong. He has used the wall as a canvas for his artistic crayon endeavors. He believes his work is wonderful and thinks that he should do this more often. The response from Mom and/or Dad is natural and predictable. Anger, correction and disappointment, as it should be. The reaction is usually pretty immediate as well, as it also should be. Tommy is a kid who is pretty used to his routine. Most of it is him stepping in the wrong place at the wrong time. He's used to being yelled at or corrected. It is becoming an identity for him. What happens, however, when Tommy takes his dish from the table and gives it to Mom after dinner? The response I hear from most parents about this is... "I didn't want to say anything, because I was afraid if I said it, he would stop doing it." The good, old, "walking on eggshells syndrome." I meet literally hundreds of families each year who feel the same way and while they are "not saying anything so the good behavior won't stop," the bad behavior continues ad infinitum.

What am I trying to say here? If you want a child's behavior to change, you need to take a close look at your own behavior in the process. I am not trying to berate anyone for correcting a child's behavior as anyone who knows me, knows that I absolutely believe in discipline and structure. What I am saying, however is that sometimes what we do naturally does more to get in the way of a child performing good behavior, the exact opposite of what we hope for.

Sherri Singer,
Psy.D.

Yelling and punishing is natural. Complimenting is not. We need to think to complement. We need to go out of our way to compliment. We just need to react from our gut to chastise. Think about that for a minute. In order to let a child know we like about what he or she did takes thought and goes against our natural grain. I will tell you here, though, that letting a child know all the time, what you expect and what you like to see is the cornerstone of building good behavior.

Of all the kids I have met (and I've met a lot,) I haven't met one who, when given the right road map, didn't fall right into place. Kids want to behave. If we continue to give attention only when they misbehave, we are helping them to develop an identity around that misbehavior. They learn that getting attention means being bad! It is important to break out of that as soon as possible since identities like that can become hazardous to one's health.

It's also perfectly o.k. to use rewards as long as you are using a structured program. I get asked this all the time. I love it when I hear someone refer to a reward as a bribe. Since when is working toward EARNING a goal a bribe? Since when is meeting expectations a bribe. Don't most adults work for a goal-salary, etc.? If there was no salary, would they work? Highly doubtful. We all live by this, yet we raise our kids without this future preparation and ask them to live by different standards than the rest of us do. In my mind you either create a child who has the ability and understanding of using self-discipline and working toward something he or she wants, or create a child who feels everything is coming to him or her for free just because he or she exists. To me, choice 2 is a recipe for failure in childhood and adulthood.

Now, if you consistently give your child things or privileges to get the child off your back, that is a bribe. If, however, the child works for something and accomplishes it, that is a goal. By the way, this is what I believe truly builds self-esteem. A child getting some sort of confirmation that he or she did a good job on his or her own. A confirmation that the child's thoughts and actions were responsible and good.

Folks, I know of what I speak. For years, I have been running a behavior program that incorporates this type of thing *and let me tell you, you have never seen a child happier or feeling more pride than when he or she has reached a goal on his or her own. Especially when that child is like Tommy, a child who is used to failing in a big way. I meet a lot of Tommys and have yet to meet the one who doesn't respond to being asked to strive. In the majority of cases, (in which parents have continued using the material,) the changes are permanent. The younger the child, the easier the change.

There is no magic here. Noticing the good stuff and making sure your child knows that you have noticed. These things work. Next time your Tommy or Tomasina (as the case may be) begins to pick up his or her dish, make sure to let him or her know how much that means to you.

Make sure he or she knows what makes you happy. He or she will strive to show you again!

Residents to trample heart disease at American Heart Walk

Hundreds of community residents will be taking steps to fight heart disease and stroke, Chicago's—and the nation's—leading causes of death and disability at the 1997 American Heart Walk sponsored by Omron and presented by Loyola University Health System.

The two mile walk will be held on Sunday, Sept. 28 at the Van Patten Woods on Route 173, east of Route 41 in Wadsworth. Warm-up begins at 8:30 a.m. and the walk starts at 9 a.m.

More than one in five Americans currently live with some form of cardiovascular disease. "Almost everyone knows someone who has had heart disease or stroke," said event chairperson Mary Ellen Vanderventer, recorder of deeds for Lake County. "We're geared up to support the research work of the American Heart Assn." Vanderventer helped the AHA identify local businesses interested in forming teams of walkers for the event.

The non-competitive walk attracts participants of all ages, including corporate teams, families and individuals. Each walker raising $100 receives an Omron American Heart Walk T-shirt and will be eligible for more prizes. Walkers ask friends and co-workers for donations to benefit the American Heart Assn. of Metropolitan Chicago's cardiovascular research and educational programs.

Walkers who have had a stroke, heart attack, or heart surgery will be given red caps with the slogan "Fighting Back" in honor of their victory over heart disease. Many participants will wear signs identifying that they are walking in honor of a loved one who has survived, or died from, heart disease.

Although a serious issue, volunteers organizing the event promise family fun. Food, music, a mini-health fair and prizes will be featured at the walk. Omron, a manufacturer of home blood pressure monitoring equipment, will offer free blood pressure screenings at the walk.

Last year the walk raised close to $17,000 and this year's goal is $40,000. The Waukegan Area Walk is one of 17 American Heart Walk events taking place throughout the city and suburbs that weekend. Nationwide, nearly 1,000 communities will host American Heart Walk events this fall.

Platinum sponsors of the Omron American Heart Walk are NaturalSport Shoes and Roche Pharmaceuticals. Gold sponsors include Columbia Health Care Corp. Ernst and Young LLP, Hoechst Marion Roussel, Merck and Co., Inc., Novartis Pharmaceutical Corp. and Xerox of Ill. Media sponsors are ABC 7 Chicago and Oldies 104.3/WJMK-FM.

To join the American Heart Walk, or to organize a company team, call the AHA at 362-0808.

The American heart Assn. of Metropolitan Chicago is the Chicago area's largest voluntary health organization fighting heart disease and stroke, which kill more than 954,000 Americans annually.

When Rose Sajuan of Waukegan, Ill., found out she had breast cancer in 1996, she knew right away she was going to fight and win, because she had to be here for her grandchildren.

"My family is the most important part of my life, and not being here for them just wasn't in my plans," Rose says.

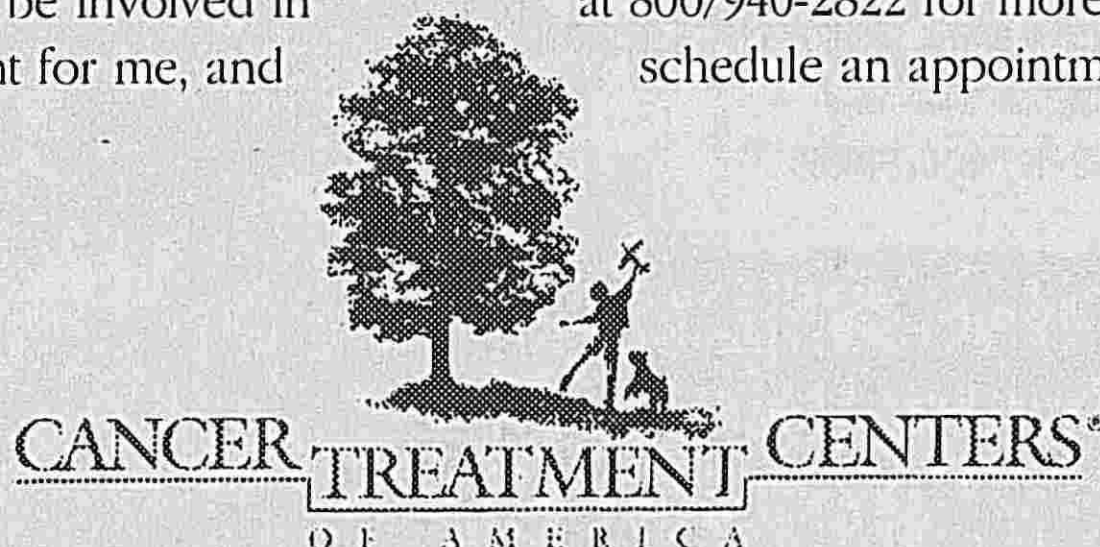

Rose's family doctor referred her to the Cancer Treatment Centers of America program at Midwestern Regional Medical Center.

"I was very impressed with how open the doctors were. I wanted to be involved in choosing the right treatment for me, and they welcomed that. I especially appreciated having support groups and prayer meetings. That helped me keep a positive attitude, and kept me focused on why I wanted to get well – so I could be here for my family."

The cancer program at Midwestern combines advanced medical treatment with diet planning, vitamin and mineral supplementation, support groups, prayer, and lots of tender loving care.

Plant maintenance promotes fall's brilliant colors

By MIKE GRECO

Many of the Red Maples in our fields are beginning to turn colors at this time of the year and will show colors ranging from yellow to brilliant red. The big knock against the Red maples in our area is the yellowing of the leaves due to the high pH of the soil. However, recent research has shown that lack of manganese in the soil is the causal agent and this can be corrected by adding manganese to the soil.

Correcting the pH of the soil will also help release nutrients to the tree. Remember, all trees will encounter problems if left unattended. A bit of proper maintenance on trees yearly will produce a strong, healthy plant and future problems are then greatly eliminated.

Anyway, back to fall colorings on some plants of that area. Some great cultivars of the Red Maple are: "Red Sunset" Red Maple which provides a consistent fall coloring of orange to red each fall. The "October Glory" Red maple is another consistent showoff each fall with brilliant red leaves in October. This tree colors later than the Red Sunset and sometimes gets hit by frost before the color is at its peak. Both of these plants show a nice upright branching form with silver-grey bark for winter interest.

If you're a fan of purplish-red fall coloring, two plants come to mind. The "Autumn Purple" White Ash tree grown both in clump form and tree form in the industry, and the "Chanticleer" Pear. The Autumn Purple White Ash has a pyramidal-rounded form with shiny, deep green leaves in the summer that turn a deep purple color each fall. The clump form of this plant can be magnificent in the fall of the year. The Chanticleer Pear has a fine upright-pyramidal form that is much more narrow than the Bradford Pear. The form of this plant makes it much stronger as it ages than the Bradford Pear. Its shiny dark green leaves turn a reddish-purple late in the fall.

One cannot forget the mighty Sugar Maples which seem to be the most varied in colorings and this is due to their many cultivars grown in our area. I've observed many of the species' trees to be more yellow and orange while the cultivars like the "Green Mountain" Sugar maple is more burnt orange to light red in the fall. The "Commemoration"

Sugar Maple also shows some bright orange to reds each fall. Both these cultivars show a good resistance to leaf scorch and are doing well in our fields.

The Sugar Maples always bring great memories of my days in college when we would camp out on a bluff overlooking a grove of these trees and stare at them for hours at a time. Oh, well, back to reality. The placement of shade trees on one's property is also extremely important and will be discussed on a future date. Enjoy the last few days of summer and let's hope for a long, long fall season.

Attention late bloomers.

It's time for the fall color of garden mums. These hardy bloomers are one of the easiest to grow. And they display enough color to make those turning tree leaves envious. The garden mum has been called "America's Most Popular Perennial" — and with good reason. With the proper care and a bit of help from Mother Nature, garden mums have the potential to bloom again and again every autumn.

So if you need a good excuse to get outdoors this fall, grab an armload of our spectacular garden mums, available now at Leider's Garden Greenery.

Marijuana grower kills self, girlfriend

Ela Township man commits murder, suicide in standoff with police

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

An unincorporated Ela Township man, suspected of running a marijuana growing operation out of his home, apparently killed himself and his girlfriend Sept. 16, after a 15-hour standoff with law enforcement officials, authorities said.

Dead are Robert Cooke, 56, and Carol Johnson, 53, both of 25226 Ellie Terrace, in unincorporated Ela Township.

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re said preliminary reports indicate Cooke shot Johnson and then himself with a handgun.

"During the negotiations, he indicated he would not go to jail," Del Re said. "He was indicating he would kill himself."

Drug enforcement officers from the Lake County Metropolitan Enforcement Group spoke with Cooke briefly at his home around 5:30 p.m. Sept. 15, before he barricaded himself inside, police said.

MEG had received an anonymous tip earlier that morning that Cooke was growing and selling large amounts of marijuana, said Bill Dial, MEG deputy director of operations.

Officers went onto a neighbor's property and viewed the tops of large potted plants in Cooke's back yard that were peering over the top of a fence, Dial said. No one answered the door at Cooke's house when an officer rang the bell, however another officer peered over another fence and spotted Cooke tending to the plants, Dial said.

The officer asked if they could talk, but Cooke ran into his house and barricaded himself, Dial said.

Sheriff's deputies were then called out to the scene, Del Re said, with approximately 30 officers present.

After telephone negotiations failed to get the individuals to give themselves up, officers of the sheriff's department tactical unit took action.

"At approximately 8:45 a.m. the tactical unit lobbed in a canister of (pepper) spray" through a broken window in the bedroom of the ranch house, where Cooke and Johnson were, Del Re said.

Minutes after it started to disperse, the canister was tossed back outside, he said. A second canister was tossed inside, and a few minutes later two gun shots were heard, emanating from the bedroom, Del Re were nearby, reports said.

Cooke was transported by paramedics to Good Shepherd Hospital near Barrington, where he was pronounced dead, police said.

The apparent murder-suicide is being investigated by the Sheriff's Department. No shots were fired by any officers, reports said.

Dial said 156 full grown marijuana plants, ranging in height from 4 to 9 feet tall, were found in the back yard, and 200 seedlings were located in a basement growing room. Approximately 5 pounds of harvested marijuana was found in two freezers, he said.

The total value of the marijuana is estimated at between $50,000 and $60,000, he said.

The plants were partially ob-

Memorial fund set for Poull children

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Three children who attended Antioch Grade School last year and their brother and sister were killed in an early morning home fire in Cicero Monday, Sept. 15. The parents survived the fire, although the father, Tony Poull, was listed in critical condition as of Wednesday noon.

Killed in the fire were Kevin Poull, 4, Charissa Poull, 5, twins William and Shawn Poull, 9, and sister Stephanie Martin, 11, from a previous marriage of mother Colleen Poull.

Liberty Federal Bank in Forest Park will accept financial donations to assist the family of Tony and Colleen Poull.

Shawn and William Poull, and their sister Stephanie Martin attended Antioch Grade School until last year.

As of Wednesday noon, the medical condition of Tony Poull, 38, was reported as critical by Loyola University Medical Center, Maywood. An aunt visiting with the family, Sandra Fender, 30, was listed in fair condition. Both were suffering from smoke inhalation and Fender had a broken ankle. Medical conditions are reported as either good, fair, serious, or critical.

A memorial fund has been established at Liberty Federal Bank, 7525 West Madison Street, Forest Park, Illinois, 60130. Nancy Svoboda, Branch Manager, said that checks should be made out to the Poull's Family Memorial Fund. The account was opened by a close friend of the family she said.

Shawn and William Poull, and their sister Stephanie Martin attended Antioch Grade School until last year.

The family's five children were killed early Monday morning in a fire in an apartment in a two-story building in Cicero. The fire started on a back porch at approximately 3:45 a.m. The one smoke detector on the first floor did not have batteries.

Local fire department officials said the building should have had seven smoke detectors.

Fire officials explained that the children may have been trying to escape the fire. Three bodies were found in the living room, one in the hall, and one in the bathroom. The fire engulfed the home within five minutes.

Arrangements for the funeral were suspended pending improvement in the medical condition of father Tony Poull, according to a person at the Cook County Morgue.

Partnership formed to promote bank restoration

By JASON J. KING
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Forest Preserves' Youth Conservation Corps (YCC), the National Association of Service and Conservation Corps (NASCC) and the Liberty Prairie Conservancy have formed a partnership that will promote stream bank restoration training.

From Sept. 28 through Oct. 2, YCC staff members from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana Ohio and Michigan and local volunteers will take part in a one-week training program. The program will focus on the restoration of a segment of an Upper Des Plaines River tributary located in the Oak Openings Nature Preserve in Libertyville.

Oak Openings, part of the 2,500-acre Liberty Prairie Reserve, is managed by the Libertyville Township Open Space District.

Betsy Dietel, executive director of the Liberty Prairie Conservancy, said she hopes the program will increase the understanding of why its important to take care of stream banks.

"We're hoping it will sprout seeds for more stream bank restorations in Lake County," said Dietel. "It's a valuable training opportunity."

All were vying for awards in a number of different categories including soups, salads and appetizers, entrees and desserts. Dan Rodriguez, director of the clinic, said last year's event raised around $12,000, and was optimistic that this year's benefit would raise more.—Photo by Sandy Bressner scured by a wooded area and a fence, police said.

MEG officials believe Cooke grew the marijuana as a business. "We found documents," Dial said.

Among the confiscated equipment included dryers and packaging equipment, as well as the freezers full of marijuana already packaged, labeled and ready to sell, officials said.

"We found people's names on individually bags of marijuana," Dial said, "which is typical of a marijuana dealer."

Officers also found the prescription medicines valium, dilaudid, and amphetamines inside the home, but no prescription forms, Dial said.

Cooke turned 56 on Sept. 16, reports said. Officers said Cooke had no prior drug convictions, but was picked up for marijuana possession in Schaumburg.

MEG is now trying to identify any co-conspirators that dealt with Cooke.

STREAM: Training seminar set

Dietel said the conservancy is interested in using this segment as a demonstration model for future stream bank restorations, not only in Lake County, but across the country.

The segment of the tributary to be restored feeds the Lake County Forest Preserves' 80-acre Almond Marsh Forest Preserve near Gurnee, a high-quality wetland. The restoration is expected to have an immediate impact on the quality of the water that flows into the marsh.

Dietel said the program will teach members of the conservancy participating in the training, how to use economically viable and environmentally sustainable stream restoration practices that can be applied at a later date.

"We'd like to work out from this site (about an acre), to the east and west," said Dietel.

Along with the YCC and NASCC, a number of local and national partners have assisted in the program. Among those program partners are, the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, the National Park Service, the Trails and Conservation Assistance Program, the Lake County Forest Preserves, the Liberty Prairie Foundation, Applied Ecological Services Inc. and the Friends of the Chicago River.

Cooperative Extension Unit appoints new council

The Lake County Cooperative Extension Unit with authorization by the University of Illinois Board of Trustees appointed seven new members to the Advisory Council. The Council structure is primarily responsible for helping to plan and coordinate Extension programming. Members of the Council have an opportunity to set program/audience priorities; assist with program delivery and evaluation; recruit financial and human resources; and serve as a formal liaison between the public and the Cooperative Extension Service.

New members include Evelyn

Alexander of North Chicago; Kim Smith, Waukegan; Patricia Cutrano, Gurnee; Patti Delger, Grayslake; Rosemarie Flaherty, Lake Barrington; Terry Kreissl, Lake Bluff; and Pat Stejskal, Mundelein.

Retiring Extension Council members are Perl Farrington and Kathy Ryg. They were recognized for their service at the Extension Council meeting on Sept. 9. Also being recognized was Consumer and Family Educator, Barbara Dahl who is retiring after 20 years with the Cooperative Extension Service in Lake County.

Council members are appointed for a two year term and are selected with consideration given to diversity in geographic representation; occupation, training and experience; organizational memberships; race/culture/gender; interests; and priority needs and issues as identified in the Unit's long-range plan. Further consideration is given to members who are knowledgeable about clientele needs throughout Lake County. The Cooperative Extension provides non-credit programming in 4-H/Youth development; Natural Resources and Agriculture; community Leadership and Volunteerism, and Consumer and Family Sciences.

Beach Sweep '97
this weekend

Time again for the annual Great Lakes Beach Sweep, a volunteer effort to clean up Lake Michigan waterfronts.

Volunteers are needed at Illinois Beach State Park in Zion from 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday, Sept. 20.

The local effort is sponsored by The Center for Marine Conservation and Co-sponsored by the Ameritech Pioneers Illinois Chapter 1.

Debris on the beaches can be used as a local indicator of the health of the lake community. It's more than just a litter problem. Many aquatic animals confuse plastic for food. Ingested plastics can cause internal injury, blockage and starvation.

Volunteers will help clean up and document shoreline debris along a three to six mile area.

Come alone, with friend or with family. Follow the signs to Park office (meeting place)—gloves are furnished. Bring a sack lunch if needed.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Pedersen to challenge Martini

Antioch—Linda Pedersen announced her candidacy for the position of Lake County board member, Tuesday evening, at a campaign kick-off picnic. She will seek the district one seat now held by Judy Martini.

Pedersen is the first member of a well-known Antioch family to seek public elected office. She has frequently been elected to lead organizations in the community.

She seeks public office because she believes she can help plan for the future of a changing community.

"Our Antioch community is changing very rapidly," she said prior to the announcement. "If we are going to accept growth and change, I'd like to be part of that planning for change."

Pedersen is known throughout Antioch's service club community. She has founded organizations that work for community improvement and served as the leader of others. "I've always been involved in politics in doing fund-raisers," she said.

Pedersen currently serves as president of the Antioch Rotary Club. She has been very active in Rotary and the community events which they sponsor.

Pedersen gives special credit to the General Federation of Women's Clubs for her preparation for public office. She is currently president-elect of the tenth district (Lake County) of the Illinois GFWC.

She serves as a Republican Committeeman for Antioch Precinct 14.

Each contestant must pay a $15 entry fee, with two contestants per boat. Launching of boats for the tournament will be at Lindy's Landing, at Park and Main. Row boat rental will be available for $10, but must be reserved in advance.

Cash prizes will be awarded. Register at Lindy's Landing before 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 20. For further information, call Lindy's at 526-9789.

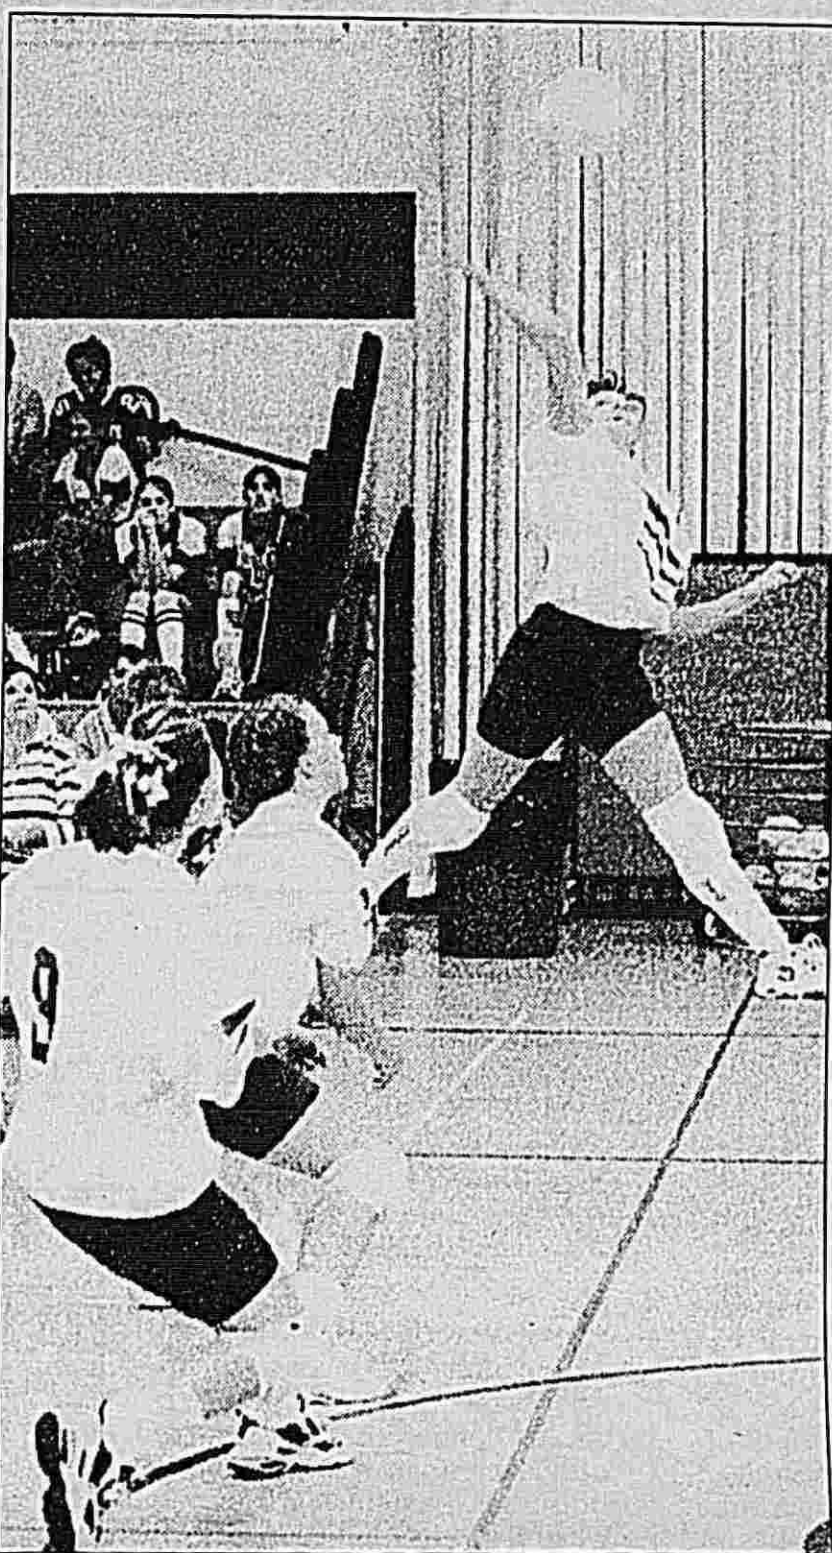

Grayslake teachers still negotiating

Grayslake—Grayslake District 46 and Illinois Federation of Teachers (IFT) Union negotiators met from 4 p.m. Tuesday evening until 2:30 a.m. Wednesday trying to work out a teacher's contract. They still don't have an agreement.

"For the first time in talks since April, the district negotiations team provided some flexibility on some issues. On other issues there seems to be a gulf between parties..." stated Bob Shaevel, field service director of the IFT.

Negotiations are scheduled to resume Friday, Sept. 19, 4 p.m. at Grayslake Middle School. The teachers union has a scheduled meeting for Sept. 24.

The union has been without a contract since June 30. Shaevel, stated two weeks ago if things didn't go well at the Sept. 16 meeting they would most likely take a vote on whether to strike.

Theater complex comes west

Round Lake Beach—The village will have one of the largest movie theaters in the Illinois.

The theater will have 18 screens, and feature two screens with a seating capacity of 500 seats. Regal Cinemas, the third largest group in the nation, is the owner of the proposed cinema.

Steven Sengson, of real estate and development, said his company searched the area and felt Round Lake Beach had the best site.

Mayor Ralph Davis said the village will expedite the process as much as possible to facilitate construction of the state-of-the-art complex.

Sengson noted the company is changing the design to create a larger lobby area. People will be able to preview movies while taking advantage of a gourmet coffee shop with fresh baked goods.

Sengson added he hopes construction will be completed in eight months. The complex will be located in the Rollins Crossing Shopping Center just east of the Super Kmart along Rollins Road.

Burglaries seem connected

Lake Villa—Three business burglaries in Antioch, Fox Lake and Lake Villa appear to be connected.

Police officials from these villages are cooperating with the investigation. Grand Tracks Saloon in Lake Villa, Struggles Restaurant and Jimmy V's Sports Bar in Fox Lake over the Labor Day weekend.

There are no suspects at this time, according to police officials.

Grand Tracks had a safe removed and money was taken from video games, a juke box and cash registers totaling $2,360.

Jimmy V's had approximately $16,000 taken and an undetermined amount was stolen from Struggles.

Fox Lake debuts computer system

Fox Lake—The Village of Fox Lake showed it was ready to take a major step in modernizing its operations with the demonstration of a new networked computer system on Sept. 15.

Following a two-week, $30,000 upgrade of the Village's technology systems by Wizard Computers of Round Lake Beach, Fox Lake now possesses an integrated computer system able to serve as the future platform for modern accounting software, Internet applications and more.

Future planned system additions include a new accounts payable ledger, outside e-mail access, and a Village Internet site, as well as the posting of municipal ordinances.

Approval of wetland mitigation

Libertyville Township—The Libertyville Township board approved the wetland restoration of the 80 acre Butterfield Rd. parcel last Thursday, which should bring the parcel back to the way it was in the 1860s.

By mitigating the parcel the township will receive an estimated $180,000. The restoration will cost the taxpayers nothing and a maintenance fund is also included in the plan.

Dist. 70 enrollment down

Libertyville—Libertyville Elementary School District 70 looks to be bucking the current trend in enrollment increases with the announcement that they are experiencing a slight enrollment decrease this year.

Attendance on the sixth day of classes in the district indicated a 1.4 percent decline in enrollment. There were 2,535 students enrolled as of the sixth day of class, down 36 students from the 2,571 who were enrolled before school let out in June.

Man kills self after conviction

Gurnee—Hotel employees found a Gurnee man dead after a suicide following a conviction in Kenosha of sexual assault.

Rorie Milks of Gurnee, age 38 was found dead on the afternoon of Sept. 13 at the Budgetel Hotel off I-94.

Milks had failed to appear at a court hearing the day before in Kenosha County Circuit Court. The jury returned guilty verdicts on one charge of sexual assault of a 15-year old in fall, 1996.

Milks left a note which may have made reference to the case.

Milks was not listed on the sexual predators list which is required after a conviction. That usually takes place after sentencing, Gurnee police said.

Johnsburg park plan outlined

Johnsburg—Johnsburg's Village Board was given a glimpse at the future shape of village recreation to come when plans for 18-acre Hiller Park, to be constructed north of the high school, were outlined at its Sept. 16 meeting.

Main elements of the park, to be completed by spring 2000 as part of Phase II of Prairie View Estates, include two baseball diamonds, a girls' softball diamond, two soccer fields and a 160-space parking lot. One of the baseball diamonds is to be a showcase field, featuring full lighting for night games.

The Community Affairs and Parks Committee will try to obtain matching grant funds from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources. The committee plans to have its grant application to be among the first received by IDNR next May.

Lesson to be learned in handling of tragedy

The Lake County law enforcement community has been tarnished by the handling of the case of Libertyville Assistant Fire Chief Ken Norton's arrest and subsequent charges for DUI and vehicular homicide in the death of Grayslake bicyclist, Mark Capistrant.

Norton, who was on vacation at the time of the accident, told police he thought he hit something on the way home, but did not see anything so continued on.

It was while Norton was pulling into the driveway of his Grayslake home that he said he heard sirens in the distance and decided he should return to the scene. He had his wife drive him back to the scene where he was placed under arrest by the Grayslake Police Department.

Norton refused to take a breathalyzer on the advice of his attorney and Grayslake officers failed to ask Norton to provide a blood or urine sample from which blood alcohol levels might have been obtained.

While, wanting to give the responding officers the benefit of the doubt, many in the public feel Norton was accorded "special" treatment because of his status as a "fellow public servant."

Did Norton ask his wife to drive him back to the scene because he was shook-up from the accident or because he knew he had had to much to drink?

We will likely never know.

What we do know is that Norton faces charges of reckless homicide, refusal to render aid in an accident involving a death and failure to stop at an accident involving a death in addition to charges of DUI (for refusing the breathalyzer test) and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

What we also know is that Mark Capistrant left behind three children.

And, we know Norton is pleading innocent.

We are not accusing the police on the scene of mishandling the case, but they should take a lesson from the public perception that the good 'ol boy network was the reason for not requesting the fluid samples.

And we sincerely hope it wasn't.

Acts of kindness saluted

When Wauconda kindergartner Alexandria Paris was diagnosed with a rare form of muscle cancer less than a month ago, the news traveled fast. On Monday, the children, staff and families of Kiddie Korner Day Care Center in the village, will begin their annual candy fundraiser and all proceeds will go to help the youngsters' family with medical and living expenses.

Alexandria had attended the day care for the past several years and was only able to go to kindergarten for two days before her diagnoses was made.

The fundraiser usually provides funds for additional school supplies and programs which benefit all students at the center, but this year they have decided to benefit an alumnus.

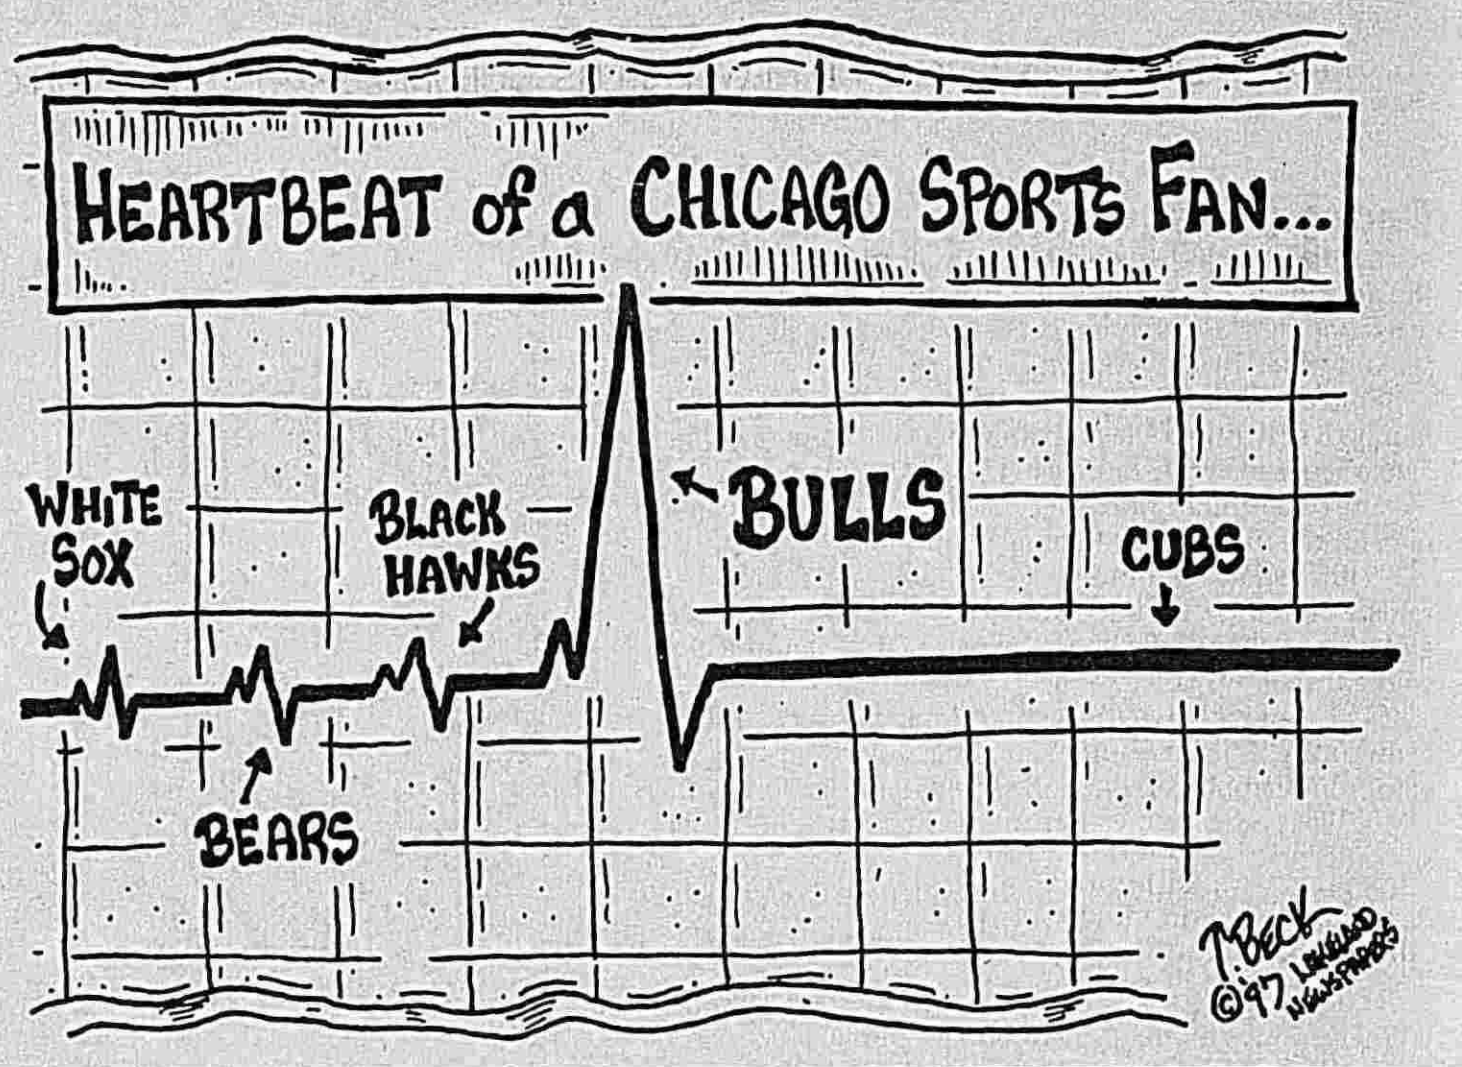

The kind gestures of the Kiddie Korner Day Care Center family is not unusual in Lake County and for that we are blessed.

Countless stories can be told each year of similar events throughout the county which truly make this home.

We salute the efforts and prayers of the residents of Wauconda for this precious 50-pound, toe-headed kindergartner whose favorite hobby is karate.

VIEWPOINT

Stereotype defied by environmentalists

Every once in awhile, evidence surfaces to contradict the widely held perception that most elected officials are self-serving, doing nothing, what's-in-it-for-me, wastrels whose only concern is fleeing an unsuspecting public and getting re-elected.

Members of the Natural Resources Subcommittee of the Lake County Board's Planning, Building and Zoning Committee broke a stereotype in resounding fashion. They produced a 20-page report after six weeks work and it didn't cost taxpayers a cent!

Natural resources provisions were omitted when the county hired a consultant a year ago to overhaul building and zoning regulations, the so-called Unified Development Ordinance designed to become a standard for well into the next century. Appointed by Rep. Pamela Newton (R-Vernon Hills), committee chair, six members undertook the responsibility of doing the job themselves without regard for compensation.

They submitted their draft Monday, a document designed to protect Lake County's floodplains and floodways, streams, lakes, ponds, and wetlands; soils, woodlands and significant trees, endangered species and open space.

The subcommittee was chaired by Rep. Al Westerman (R-Waukegan). Members included Carol Calabrese (R-Libertyville), Sandy Cole (R-Wildwood), Martha Marks (R-Riverwoods), Judy Martini (R-Antioch) and Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa).

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

They scoured other Illinois counties and went to other states across the U.S. for information. Westerman said they kept what was good, dropped confusing language and added provisions where needed. Cole said existing ordinances are "quite good, but they're not being enforced." For example, almost two pages are devoted to the protection of significant trees. Proposed changes redefine placement of silt fences designed to protect wetlands.

A significant piece of work, all right, by officials who took on the work because they were willing to exert extra effort to do a job they considered important and worthwhile.

Exporting jobs

Cherry Corp. of Waukegan, a major Lake County employer, is building a 153,000 square foot manufacturing facility in Lake View Corporate Park in Pleasant Prairie, Wis., just across the Illinois-Wisconsin stateline. Components for computers and appliances will be handled in Wisconsin, freeing up space in Waukegan. More than 600 jobs are involved, a great number now handled in Waukegan. Cherry employs 4,400 at 15 locations worldwide.

New season

The famed Drake Theatre at Lake Forest's Barat College will introduce its 1997-98 season with performances Oct. 24, 15 and 26 of "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead," a Shakespearean comedy/parody. Drake Theatre has been thrilling lovers of serious theater for nearly a half century. The Drake Children's Theatre opens with the timeless "Beauty and the Beast" Dec. 6 and 7, just in time for the holidays. Box office information is available at 847-604-6344.

Great cause

Nancy Clark, chair of the 1997 Gala Committee of the Auxiliary of Condell Medical Center, is giving Santa Claus a run in the giveaway department. To entice interest in the colorful event Oct. 4 at Twin Orchard Country Club, the auxiliary is offering trips to places like Hawaii, Australia, Puerto Vallarta, Cancun and San Francisco. Hospital backers will give away tickets to Bulls games and other sporting events. Dinner for two packages will be offered at a number of the county's top restaurants. All you have to do is purchase raffle tickets benefiting the cardiac lab at $25 each, according to Clark.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Stop pension fleecing

It's outrageous and discouraging to see our county officials voting to double their pensions, as the citizens they claim to serve most continue to scrimp and save. A law signed by Governor Edgar last June gives county boards outside of Cook County the ability to vote themselves these increases, and so far, all 29 of the remaining 101 county boards who have considered the increase have approved it. For example, a county official who has eight years of service sees an increase from 13 percent of salary to 24 percent of salary, and someone with 20 years increases from 35 percent to 80 percent of salary.

I find it hard to believe that most voters could agree that these officials have earned such an increase. Or that there is any benefit to the county itself. More than likely, most would agree that the move is strictly self-serving. This would certainly add to the tax burden of already highly taxed citizens throughout Illinois, especially the collar counties.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Politics put a side for cause

Former Lake County State's Attorney Fred Foreman, a Republican, and Lake County Recorder of Deeds Mary Ellen Vanderventer, a Democrat, are an odd pair to be working together. But, Vanderventer, this year's chairman of the 1997 American Heart Association's Heart Walk received the official walking shoes and some pointers from last year's chairman Foreman.

"Last year Fred hosted the first Heart Walk in northern Lake County and raised more than $15,000 for the Heart Association," Vanderventer said. "This year I have set an ambitious goal to raise over $30,000 for the fight against heart disease and stroke. We have already doubled the number of volunteers who will gather pledges and walk."

The family event will be held rain or shine on Sunday, Sept. 28, 8:30 a.m. at Van Patten Woods in Wadsworth. To volunteer call, 362-0808.

The event is she to be to the test the fundraising skills of the two chairman and their party.

Oktoberfest salute

State Comptroller Loleta Didrickson will undoubtedly have a few glasses of Mickey Finn's Oktoberfest brew raised in her honor during a GOP fundraiser at the pub, Sept. 23. Tickets for the pizza and suds bash are $50.

Didrickson is rumored to be a possible candidate for Lt. Gov. on the slate of George Ryan.

Dan Durbin, nephew of U.S. Sen. Dick Durbin, is a resident of Arlington Heights. Durbin is well endowed with the family's political genes. If you think this sounds like campaign material, you're right. The younger Durbin reportedly is mulling over his can get along famously—when they don't discuss politics. County Board Rep. David Stolman (R-Buffalo Grove) and Buffalo Grove Mayor Sid Matthias, a Democrat and their wives enjoyed a cruise this summer. Sun and fun. No politics. The couples are long-time friends.

Electronic folly

Grant Noble of Lake Forest, a keen observer of Lake County politics, offers County Clerk Willard Helander an inexpensive alternative to expensive electronics for counting votes at the precinct level and reporting results by modem. In Israel, Noble notes, election judges are paid another $50 to count paper ballots in front of poll watchers of both parties. Noble says extra pay would offset the cost of patronage workers hired to haul ballots to the County building.

Party person

Jan Zibus, key aide to State Sen. William "Bill" Peterson (R-Long Grove), is getting a reputation as Lake County's Pearl Mesta. Pearl was the legendary Washington, DC party planner of "Hostess with the mostest" fame.

Zibus will go from master-minding Sen. Peterson's ever popular fall brunch Sunday, Oct. 5, to orchestrating an event Wednesday, Dec. 3, honoring Judges Lawrence Inglis, John Goshgarian, Jack Hoogasian, Raymond McKoski and Henry Tonnigan. The Peterson brunch will be served at Marriott's Lincolnshire. Tickets are $50 each.

What's best thing since sliced bread?

In a novel I read recently, one of the characters pays another person a huge compliment: "You're the greatest thing since sliced bread."

An interesting cliché. I asked several friends if they ever heard it; some had, others hadn't, although I thought it was one of those old sayings everyone was familiar with, like "You're the cat's pajamas," or "the bee's knees."

Usually, "the greatest thing since sliced bread" is said in praise of things, useful new inventions, not people.

Older old-timers than I recollect that the automatic bread slicer became part of our lives, oh, maybe in the 1930s. Thus, technological advances that have enriched our lives since then would include the microwave oven, the car phone, cable television, remote control, air-conditioning, highlighter pens and clumping kitty litter.

My goodness, how did we ever survive without such creature comforts?

I recall back in the 1930s, when I was just a tyke, we didn't even have a telephone. Some of the families in our neighborhood didn't have an automobile; they got to work and elsewhere by walking or by streetcar.

Today, new homes often are built with three-car garages. We've come a long way since the rumble seat.

One of my reference books says the expression, "the greatest thing since sliced bread," can be used sarcastically; indeed, not everyone regards packaged, presliced bread as a taste treat, although it certainly is a convenience.

I checked books on bread-making and found no mention of bread slicers. The authors do recommend various snazzy kitchen knives for cutting fresh, hot homemade bread one piece at a time.

Whenever I hear the cliché in question, I wonder, "What was

THE PFARR CORNER

the greatest thing before sliced bread?"

The nominees might include such handy inventions as the umbrella, the zipper and, of course, baseball's great equalizer, the curve ball.

But you can't slice bread with a curve ball.

More recent examples of good old American ingenuity would include telephone answering machines, videocassette recorders, the Big Mac, snow throwers, self-propelled lawn mowers, mosquito repellent, golf carts and disposable diapers.

Also, wheels on luggage, Velcro, Silly Putty, near-painless dentistry, and pizza delivered to your doorstep.

Talk about progress! As Shakespeare said, "What a piece of work is man!"

A recent poll by Business Week magazine listed the inventions that today's Americans say they couldn't live without. Number one is the automobile, followed by the light bulb, the telephone, the television set, aspirin, the microwave oven, the blow-dryer and the personal computer.

The magazine concluded this tells us what we Americans want the most today: mobility, light, communication, freedom from pain and, of course, great hair!

I can't wait to see what our inventive minds will think of next; I guess I'll stick around for another half-century.

There certainly is room for more progress. Life isn't perfect when they sell wieners in packages of eight and hot-dog buns in packages of 10. We can put a man on the moon but we still can't get an Egg McMuffin after 11 a.m.

In DuPage county, it's estimated that taxpayers would cough up an additional $300 annually to support the measure. Lake County and others would certainly see similar cost increases. Worse still, the new law is retroactive to anyone who has served since November 1994. That would mean that officials who were royally drummed out of office since the last election (some of whom are now cashing in as lobbyists in Springfield) could still come back to fleece the taxpayers once again. State Sen. Steve Raushchenberger of Elgin was quoted as saying "I simply don't believe it's fair to ask our kids to pay for the Christmas presents we want to give out now."

Lake and other collar counties will consider the measure soon, and if the trend is any indication, some of our board members are most likely delighted to have the opportunity to make themselves wealthier at taxpayer expense. It's imperative that the people of all counties contact their board members and voice their objection to this greed driven scheme. A spokesman for Gov. Edgar claimed the increase is up to county officials to take local action. If that is the case, let us take local action to stop them.

Kirk R. Goltry
Round Lake Beach

Faulty construction

A political pundit once said, "It is even more important to have combative political opponents than it is to have good supporters." His reasoning was they oftentimes get mean spirited and sarcastic which few people appreciate. They generally distort, misrepresent, and, on many occasions, blatantly lie if it serves their purpose. Almost without exception, they hide behind the safe sanctuary of being a private citizen, as opposed to jumping into the political arena where all become "fair game" for anyone who has an ax to grind. In short, they do more harm to the public promoting their own agenda than any good they may do.

I feel doubly blessed in having two such similar fellows as Pat Connors and Jack Martin. In the early 1980s they had some credibility, mostly because the public couldn't visualize what their self-serving brand of politics would ultimately result in: i.e., the Cuneo development, soaring school taxes, gridlock traffic congestion and a greatly diminished quality of life. Now all realize their political house was always built of cards.

ET. 'Mike' Graham
Libertyville Township Supervisor

GOP out of control

There has been much speculation about the pending collapse of the Republican party in Lake County. And contrary to the famous statement attributed to Mark Twain, there seems to be a great deal of truth in the claim.

From Lauren Beth Gash's tenuous grip on the 60th Representative District to Terry Link's recent victory in the 30th Senatorial District, both Democrats in traditional Republican strongholds, to the recent ouster of Robert Depke as the all powerful County Board Chairman, to the rejection of Depke's son as a replacement for his father's seat, a message has been sent to statewide Republican leaders that business as usual in Lake County is coming to a screeching halt. Fed-up Republicans are either staying home or casting their vote for more responsive candidates—regardless of party stripe.

To understand why this is happening, we have to look at recent actions by Bob Grever, Lake County Board Chairman, Bob Neal, Chairman of the Public Service Committee, and by Ted Anderson, Chairman of the West Deerfield Township Republican Committee.

Grever and Neal have severely criticized Commissioner Judy Martini for calling a constituency meeting. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss an on-going problem with the intersection of Rte. 59 and Grass Lake Rd.. Never mind that over 70 very concerned citizens attended the meeting. Never mind that the County Transportation Dept. attended the meeting. Never mind that the Sheriff's Dept. agreed to attend, stating they "encourage public participation." According to Neal, the meeting was a waste of staff time.

When Martini explained to the Public Service Committee that people were afraid to go out on weekends and face the traffic, Neal reportedly stated "good, maybe they'll stay home and there will be less traffic and it will be less dangerous." To counter this type of citizen participation, Board Chairman Grever is considering a rules change which will prohibit commissioners from holding constituency meetings without permission.

This type of "leadership" is totally unacceptable. It follows on the heels of arrogance displayed by the Chairman of the West Deerfield Township Republican Party, when he changed caucus rules at the last minute to prevent any challenge to his slate of candidates for township offices. In that particular case, citizens of the township were effectively stripped of their voting rights. The public is just becoming aware of that irresponsible action. Actions are sure to follow—actions that will further expose the current Lake County Republican party for what it is: an out of control organization.

The unfortunate fall-out from this bizarre behavior is the reluctance of State Republican officials to slate responsive members, such as Rep. Andrea Moore (R-61st), for higher office. Until the Republicans can get their act together and purge the party of the arrogant, non-responsive, and irresponsible, they will continue to slide towards oblivion. Incumbents like Moore, Wood, Coulson, and Clayton will be lucky to retain their seats—much less advance. Perhaps Perot was right—by the end of the century, only one of the two major parties will continue to exist.

As Chairman of the largest alliance of grassroots organizations in the state, I travel extensively and speak before Republicans and Democrats alike. I am amazed by the growing number of Republican oriented groups that are considering the unthinkable—endorsing Democrats. And I'm equally amazed by the enthusiasm, in Democrat camps, for their future prospects.

Add seats, championship

I'd like to make a comment on Chicago's Wrigley Field, which in my opinion, is like a shrine. I don't believe the Cubs will ever be allowed to win championships or world series as long as they continue to have Wrigley Field as a small seating baseball field. What they need to do is close off Sheffield and Waveland and put another 10-15,000 seats out there. Then the Cubs would go forward into championship teams. Until that happens, they'll just be mediocre.

Need better policy

I was at a grocery store the other week and I'm very concerned with the way the manager runs the store. I was in line when he was helping someone with an Illinois Link card. I waited about 20 minutes and he never apologized or told me I should move to the next line because this will take some time. I think it's nice to have the card for underprivileged people, but I think there should be a better policy for people waiting with cash on hand.

Wrong priorities

Congratulations, District 46. You've done it again! You've spent $100,000 on a bus person and a computer program and you can't get our kids to school on time. Your priorities again are focused on the wrong thing. I guess it was more important to move into a new building than to get our kids to school on time.

Grayslake

We don't owe you

Why so many divorces? Many men want all the benefits of marriage but don't expect to pay the cost. They like to say you can't raise children on the tax deduction the government gives. They think everybody else owes them this while they run around and have a good time.

Clean up your act

I'd really like to know who's supposed to be maintaining the lot at Cedar Lake Road and Glenwood Drive in Round Lake Beach. Is it supposed to be a parking lot or a junkyard? The weeds are well over six feet high and there's quite a few vehicles without valid stickers. Wake up, Round Lake Beach officials, and let's take care of this eyesore.

Round Lake Beach

Happy with decision

I'm a voter and I'm glad Roy Gundlach cannot drive the boat for the Waterway Agency. I think it's a shame that some people get away with driving drunk. Thanks for not letting him operate a boat.

There are laws

This is in response to "Dog sandwich," about barking dogs in Round Lake Beach. I have the same problem, and there is an ordinance. It's called "noisy animals," Sec. 4-5-6 and the police do have to do something about it. They can give people a citation. It's against the law to have these noisy animals. The ordinance is 69-0-8 4-16 1969. Call the police and this will be taken care of. The owners of these animals are ignorant.

Don't look

This is in response to the comments about trucks parking in the old Jerry's parking lot. I happen to be one of the truck drivers that park there. The owner of Jerry's and everyone else never had a problem with us parking there over the years. We keep the area clean and we're not an eyesore, we're far enough off the road that if you're not staring there, you won't see the trucks. Everyone who parks there lives within the area. We just park there so we can be home with our families when we get the chance.

How can they?

How can the village of Libertyville sit there and back their assistant fire chief for a DUI after he killed a bicyclist? I don't feel sorry for him, he should get what he deserves. I do have sympathy for the bicyclist's family.

Not an eyesore

This is in response to "Parking lot convoy." I'm so sorry the person finds these trucks an eyesore. Perhaps he doesn't realize they start at about $100,000. Perhaps this person ought to consider the laws that have put people where they are today. I'm sure he enjoys going to Wal-mart and Kmart and having it stocked. That can't be done without semis. And they have to be parked someplace. By the way, they do pay to park.

Thanks, stranger

I'd just like to say thank you to the man who lives on the corner of Bonniebrook and Long Lake Rd. On June 7, my friend and I were in a car accident at this corner. There were 15 people outside watching and he was the only person who came up and asked if everything was okay. Everyone else just stood there like idiots. Thanks very much to this man!

Use host fees

I agree with the caller from Grayslake who suggested using host fees from our garbage dump to help buy a fire engine instead of blowing the money on building village money-making enterprises, like an expensive aquatic and fitness center. One experience with firefighters rushing up your driveway to help your loved ones, as I have had, will convince you these dedicated guys need all the support they can get.

Grayslake

Still empty buses

School has started in District 95 and still empty school buses are running up and down the street. I guess there's nothing we can do except fire our superintendent of schools. Evidently he thinks our money flows like water. I saw only one school bus who wasn't speeding in a 20 mph zone. It seems we have no rights with this superintendent.

Burns is the one

In my political opinion, former U.S. Attorney for the northern district of Illinois, Jim Burns, if he runs for governor, no Republican, no matter who it might be, would win the governor's race in 1998. Jim Burns is clean of any campaign donation violations, he has never awarded contracts in exchange for political contributions, and he would be a fresh face for the Illinois governor's office.

Don't realign

I'd like to talk about baseball thinking about realignment. To me, I think it's a mockery that the acting commissioner would want to put the Chicago White Sox in the same division with the Chicago Cubs. That's very wrong. The baseball people should leave it alone and leave the teams where they are. With the new teams coming, Tampa Bay and Arizona, I think leaving it alone is what they should do.

Lake Villa Twp.

Another scam

In response to what does Waterway Management do, they sell a lot of stickers. All eight or so directors show up at the meetings to get their checks every month. They put the buoys out in the spring. They talk and plan and talk and plan. And that isn't cheap.

Not at 25,000 sticker fees a year. Oh, yeah, they pick up the buoys in the fall. Other than that, I haven't seen them all summer.

No problem before

I see our taxes going up higher again. Now they're talking about teachers not handling more than 25 students. As I remember, the teachers had 48, six rows of eight, back in my day. I don't recall the teachers having any problem. We learned math and spelling and even penmanship. They're making it so easy on the teachers.

Wasting money

I just want to say that I am getting two newspapers, sometimes three a week since you started dropping the papers in the driveway. This is kind of crazy. You're wasting all your money.

Fun Grandparents Day

I would like to express my gratitude to the teachers and pupils of Wee Care Preschool in Gages Lake, for their hospitality on Friday, Sept. 5, Grandparents Day. The boys and girls decorated, the teachers provided food, and the large group of grandparents enjoyed the day. Many thanks for a successful family celebration.

Round Lake

Always overcharged

I'd just like to state that the grocery stores in this area that have the electronic scanning should put up an advertisement that they overcharge. And if you catch them, maybe they'll correct the item. It's a standard procedure to be overcharged.

Nuisance neighbor

I was wondering if anyone has a neighbor like mine. He calls the police constantly and he's so drunk all the time he's imagining things. When I was on vacation, my neighbor told me the police were here. When I asked why, he said someone called the police with a complaint of loud music and partying. I was 500 miles away! I think if a person gives a false police call, they should be fined. He's wasting the police department's money and time.

How to be the neighborhood millionaire

By NOAH SEIDENBERG

Millionaires. They drive fancy cars, hang out at ritzy country clubs and live in the swanky part of town. Right?

Think again.

There's a good chance your next-door neighbor is a millionaire. Wait — before you turn to the comics, read on.

Thomas J. Stanley, who has studied the wealthy for more than 20 years, is the author of a new book called "The Millionaire Next Door." He first became interested in studying millionaires while working for a trust company. In that job, he was assigned to do a study on people with net worth of $10 million or more. Stanley arranged an elaborate function orchestrated by a food designer and gourmet wine consultant.

To his surprise, the people who attended drank beer.

"They were just 'good old boys' and first-generation millionaires," Stanley said.

This discovery led Stanley to profile the American millionaire. He found that most people who accumulate wealth in one generation are self-employed. They are self-reliant and disciplined, able to blend their business investing habits with their personal investing.

According to Stanley's studies, more than 80 percent of millionaires in America are first-generation rich. The New York City apparel manufacturer differs little from the welding contractor in Tulsa. They typically have traditional values and live frugally. Would you believe that 37 percent of millionaires buy used cars?

Most millionaires don't fit the popular image of "The Great Gatsby." They're hard-working people: paving contractors, rice farmers, scrap metal dealers. Millionaires work 45 to 55 hours a week in their own businesses. They don't throw their money around. According to Stanley, an IRS study on the wealthy concluded that "these people are more interested in saving than they are in consuming. That's how they accumulate wealth."

In a recent interview, Stanley distinguished between millionaires in assets and millionaires in income. Earn $250,000 a year for four consecutive years, and politicians classify you as a millionaire. Not so, said Stanley — that's income.

The traditional definition of a millionaire is a person with net worth of $1 million or more.

In fact, according to Stanley's book, the average millionaire has an annual household income of $131,000.

How do you become a millionaire on $131,000 a year?

The trick is to accumulate wealth. The people Stanley calls "under-accumulators of wealth" spend tremendous amounts of money on leased cars, credit and other culprits of wealth. About 85 percent of millionaires, on the other hand, seldom spend more than $360 on a suit or $27,000 on a car.

Would you like to be the neighborhood millionaire? Follow the example of the self-made millionaires: Be self-reliant, live frugally, and invest wisely.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Seven habits of highly ineffective people

Dr. Stephen R. Covey's best selling book, "The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People," still shows up on the top-10 lists today. The principles he discusses can contribute to a more successful and fulfilling life. However, for me, the book left one big question: Why aren't more people highly effective?

I think the answer to my question is also habits. Bad habits. Because I dislike writing this column solely on the basis of what I think, I decided to see if others agreed. I surveyed more than 200 corporate presidents, CEO's business owners, middle managers, academicians, professionals and media friends to get their opinions. I asked them this question: What are the habits that keep people from reaching their full potential?

How to be highly ineffective Here are their responses:

- Don't get too organized and don't worry about managing time. More than 76 percent of those surveyed listed procrastination, lack of priorities and poor time utilization as one of the top seven habits of ineffective people.

Procrastination was number one on the list. Other answers in this area were "failure to prioritize," "not being able to say no" and "focusing on urgent, but unimportant tasks."

- Forget integrity and ethics. The second most common habit of highly ineffective people is that they lack honesty. Sixty-two percent of the respondents identified integrity issues as habits that limit success.

Some answers were very direct: "Lying," "exaggerating" and "saying one thing while doing another." Other responses were more subtle: "failing to keep their promises," "sacrificing their ethics for personal gain" and "not following through."

- Take it easy. Nearly half listed "work ethic" issues as critical inhibitors to success. Several mentioned "unwillingness to work hard," "putting play (leisure) before work" and "poor work ethics."

Other respondents mentioned "lack of perseverance," "being lazy" and "an unwillingness to tackle tough tasks." One employer complained that too many of his employees stopped looking for work after they got a job.

- Don't change and avoid taking risks. More than 40 percent of those surveyed felt that highly ineffective people resisted change and did so because they were afraid of unknown consequences.

Responses included: "Too resistant to change," "failure to make changes until the outcome is certain" and "having a don't fix what ain't broke" attitude, instead of a "how can we make it better" attitude.

- Think negative thoughts. Almost four in 10 of those I surveyed listed "poor attitudes" in their top seven bad habits. Words like "complacent," "apathetic," "unmotivated" and "negative" were common.

One CEO said, "People with bad attitudes are never happy." He went on to say that kind of think always influences others.

- Don't listen, don't think and say what's on your mind. One-third of those surveyed ranked "listening," "speaking," "writing" and "thinking on your feet" as career limiting deficiencies.

One attorney said, "You don't

American Girl manufacturer has 400 jobs

New distribution center seeks workers in Wilmot, Wis.

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Ask any parent of a 10-year-old girl and they are likely to know the Pleasant Company. The company sells dolls and books which depict the life of six American girl ancestors each representing a different period in American history. The stories are told through the experiences of a 10-year-old girl.

The Pleasant Company is coming to the Lake County area with approximately 400 job openings for their national mail-order distribution center in Wilmot, Wis., just over the Illinois-Wisconsin border near Antioch. The employment is for people who take telephone orders and pack the orders.

People will work in a completely remodeled facility on the site formerly owned by Gander Mountain, which continues to lease a small amount of their former space for a retail sales outlet.

Pleasant company has installed a state-of-the-art telephone order processing system and merchandise shipment center in order to sell their children's education and entertainment doll collections and related merchandise. The work areas and equipment are spotless.

"Approximately 400 positions are still available in order processing and distribution," said Marcy McClain, human resources manager. She said that the company expects to have 770 employees at the center when it is fully operational. There are 380 seasonal employees for order fulfillment, 340 seasonal employees for order processing, and approximately 50 year-round employees. As of mid-September, there were 150 fulfillment positions, and 217 order processing positions yet to be filled.

People who do order processing earn $7.60 an hour, and people filling orders from the distribution center earn $7.10. Work on weekends will earn additional amounts per hour—$1 an hour additional for fulfillment workers and 50 cents an hour for order processors.

Order processors answer telephone calls to the company from all over the nation. According to McClain, the company wants "articulate individuals who provide friendly, knowledgeable, efficient, and above all, excellent customer service. In addition, order processors must type at least 30 words per minute. Once hired, all order processors receive Troy Lawson, Kenosha, works on the "ship alone line" at Pleasant Company's new distribution and call center facility in Wilmot, northwest of Antioch. seven paid days of classroom training on product, teletechniques, and computer procedures."

Seasonal fulfillment workers pack customer orders and ship them. McClain said that the company looks "for individuals who pride themselves in accuracy and attention to detail. Pickers work from a picking summary document selecting appropriate items for each customer order. Packers assemble shipping cartons and seal packages prior to shipment."

Seasonal employees receive no health insurance. There is a 5 percent seasonal bonus plan from the day of hiring through the third week of November at which time it becomes percent. The purpose of the bonus is to encourage employees to increase their work hours during the company's busiest sales period of the year. Employees receive a 30% discount on merchandise such as dolls, clothing, and accessories after two weeks of employment. The discount is 50 percent on paper merchandise.

Mark Guenther, picking supervisor, said to a small group of reporters he took on a tour of the fulfillment center, "Since I've started, I've just been so well impressed with how they treat people."

There are new break rooms with microwave facilities for employee food brought from home. The company has no plans to serve food to employees.

The distribution center operates five days a week, although after Thanksgiving, employees work weekends to keep up with orders. Order processors are expected to wear casual business clothes, and people in the order fulfillment center may wear jeans and shorts as well as casual shoe wear and boots.

"We conduct interviews on the spot," said McClain. The business is open for interviews from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and there are two recruiters to help people through the employment application process. The telephone number for information about employment is 414-862-7578.

Work stations for people who take telephone orders have been created in a variety of styles. There are cubicles for left and right handed people, some with tall or standard-height chairs, and some without chairs for those who would prefer to work standing up while talking on the telephone. There are 173 work stations.

The company trains employees about the products they sell. "There really is an enormous amount for employees to learn," said McClain. Many customers are very familiar with the products the company sells. Parents have read the books which are part of the experience the company sells. It is important that personnel be familiar with the facts related to each doll the company sells according to McClain.

The company expects to recruit people from an area that extends to Milwaukee and to Gurnee. "We hope to draw from a very large radius," said McClain.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

I am a working mom who has been employed full time for the past 11 months with the same company. I offer support to 3 sales professionals and enjoy what I do for the most part. I have a respectable salary and excellent medical coverage. Before the holidays started, I found myself starting to get stressed out and overwhelmed with trying to balance my job, family and all. I approached my employer on a Friday, asking him if after the first of the year, I could cut down my work week to 4 days per week instead of the 5 I now work. I felt this would allow me the extra time to catch up on this balancing act that I have created for myself. My employer asked me if I had already made up my mind that this is what I would like to do. I said that I had felt that it would be good for me. He said he would take our conversation under advisement. The following Tuesday, much to my surprise I found out that calls were coming in on an ad that was running in the local paper for my position. I immediately went into my boss and asked what was going on. He explained that unfortunately, I was hired to work a standard 5 day 40 hour work week, an agreement that I have told him I feel I can no longer hold to. Therefore the company felt it necessary to find someone who can. Now I am unemployed. I have been turned down for unemployment benefits because the company said I was unable to fulfill the employment agreement I entered into with them. Can they do this?

F.D. - Zion

Dear F.D.,

Since you have already heard that you have been turned down for unemployment, possibly so. You do have the right however, to appeal the outcome with an appeals officer. Check with the unemployment advisor that you met with and find out how to go about that. I have to say that I understand the position your former employer was in. If every full time employee came to them saying that they need a day off per week, who would get the work done. The other situation you may not have taken into consideration, should your company have accepted a 4 day work week, you may very well have lost all benefits with them as it is common for companies not to offer standard benefits to part-timers. You may want to re-think your future needs in the home and workplace and decide before going into a new job, if you desire to work full or part time. If you feel you need the flexibility, you may even consider working temporary assignments until such a time when you are not feeling so overwhelmed. Good luck to you.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.

"Luna" is a mid-size, mostly shepherd mix spayed female. Just three years old, Luna has an attractive black, brown and cream short coat and perk ears. Intelligence just shines out of her beautiful face and eyes. Luna is housebroken and good with older children. Luna possesses the positive and desirable qualities that set shepherds apart: she is calm, attentive, alert and eager to please. Luna will learn quickly and she will respond well to training. Luna lost her home when her family moved from a house to an apartment, but a young, active, playful dog like Luna needs a house and a fenced yard for romping, fun and exercise. Luna will be a wonderfully loyal, affectionate and attentive friend. Stop by Orphans of the Storm and take this great dog home with you. Luna is in Cage 30.

NAOMI

A generously sized railed deck adds to the spaciousness of the 3109 square foot Naomi, which would be at home in a woodland setting or a wonderfully landscaped city lot, flat or sloped.

The living area is almost equally divided between the main floor and the daylight basement, where the huge family room nestles with its fireplace and room for several furniture groupings. There is direct access from the family room to the half-bath, which has been designed to facilitate the inclusion of future bedrooms with a separating full bath. Next to the half-bath is the large utility room which boasts a built-in ironing board and folding table.

The rest of the living area is located on the main level. High, open-beamed vaulted ceilings grace the living room, dining room, kitchen and den, giving added visual space and a feeling of strength and performance.

The basement stairs lead to the large, efficiently designed kitchen, which includes a walk-in pantry as well as the other usual and necessary amenities. A tiled (or brick?) area for a wood stove not only integrates the kitchen and adjoining dining room, but also adds definition to both. French doors offer direct access from the dining room to the good-sized back patio, as well as entrance of outdoor light.

The kitchen, dining room and nice sized den/office/guest room are all on the same level, but the sunken living room is three steps down, adding a little more elevation to the ceiling.

The living room is more than seventeen by sixteen feet large, and is graced by a lovely tile hearth fireplace which shares a flue chase with the dining room stove.

The master suite and second bedroom are both quite large, each has a full bath, and they are separated by large back-to-back sound buffering, closets. The master suite also offers direct access to large front deck, a perfect place for that first cup of morning coffee, while sealed among large pots filled with summer flowers or later greenery.

For a study kit of the NAOMI (404-22LP60) or a Dream Home Book, send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Specify plan name & number for kit). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark Designs, or call 1-800-562-1151.

POSITIONING
THE BALL
TOO FAR FORWARD OR
TOO FAR BACK IN THE
THE CAUSE OF
MANY HOOKS
AND SLICES.
WHY?

SETTING THE BALL
TOO FAR FORWARD
FORCES YOU TO SWING ACROSS THE TARGET LINE
FROM OUT TO IN.
CONVERSELY,
POSITIONING THE
BALL TOO FAR BACK CAUSES THE CLUB TO MAKE CONTACT WHILE STILL SWINGING FROM THE INSIDE.

SO ALWAYS WORK ON CORRECT BALL POSITION IN YOUR PRACTICE SESSIONS.
